

NEWS FROM CITY HALL
AND DEPARTMENT WORKFiltration Plant to be Tested Next Week—Iron Pipe Laid 44 Years Ago as Good as New

If present plans carry the new filtration plant at the boulevard will be in operation within a week or ten days. Commissioner Carnichael states that the work is fast nearing completion. He said that the plant will be given a try-out next week and if everything works all right the plant will soon be in operation. Two of the new filters have been completed and the steam lines are being laid to connect with the new engines recently installed. As soon as the steam pipes are connected the commissioner will notify the pump concern to send a man to start the pumps.

As the result of notices published in the papers asking that persons receiving had water notify the water office at city hall, about 50 notices have been received within a week. In view of the fact that there are more than 13,000 house services in operation the commissioner thinks that the number of complaints is not very great. Most of the complaints came from Centralville Heights, where the pressure is low. This, the commissioner believes, all will be remedied by the new filtration plant.

A blow-out of the water pipes will take place tomorrow afternoon between 1 and 5 o'clock and special attention will be given the places from which complaints have been received, though most of them have already been attended to.

That the condition of the water, when it is black and occasionally more or less foul, is not due to the old pipes has been pretty well demonstrated within the last week. As the result of a petition received at water department headquarters a portion of the 12-inch pipe in Merrimack street was taken up and the pipe, after 44 years of service, having been laid in 1871, was in such good condition and well preserved that a portion of it on exhibition in the office as rebuke to those who contend that the old pipes are responsible for the bad water. The coating of coal tar pitch to which the pipe was subjected when made is still as fresh and as clean as when the pipe was laid. The piece of pipe in question was taken up in Merrimack street near Alken street.

Installing New Boiler
As little is heard from the smoke inspector these days as from the city planning board, the smoke inspector will be on deck this morning with a new item concerning the Lowell Bleachery which he says has decided to install a 600 horse power boiler with an automatic stoker. The new boiler will take the place of five smaller boilers which will be discontinued. Mr. G. G. Parkins, professor of engineering at the Lowell Textile Institute, will supervise the work of installing the boiler and the smoke inspector Riley believes that the new boiler will improve smoke conditions at the Bleachery by at least 50 per cent.

No Infantile Paralysis
According to figures made public by the state department of health showing an analysis of the cases of measles reported to the department during the last month, serious outbreaks of infantile paralysis as 25 cases were turned in during the month of August. None of the cases, however, were sent in from Lowell and the local board of health has no record of any cases of infantile paralysis at the present time.

Thus far during the month of September 16 cases of diphtheria have been reported at the office of the board of health, while 19 cases of typhoid fever, one of scarlet fever, one of measles and 11 of tuberculosis have been reported. During the entire month of August there were reported six cases of diphtheria, 15 of typhoid fever and 16 of tuberculosis.

Building Permit Granted
Dellino Achin was granted a permit at the office of Commissioner Putnam this morning for the erection of a two-family house at 206 Colonial avenue. Each of the apartments will have five rooms, pantry and bath. The building will be 26 by 38 feet, 2 1-2 stories and the estimated cost is $2500.

To Remove Big Elm
The street department has petitioned the park department to remove the big elm tree at the corner of Merrimack and John streets. The tree has been enrolled on the list of "sickly trees" and a second reason for its removal is because it interferes with the putting in of the new sidewalk at that point.

Street and Sewer Hearings
Hearings on the following petitions in connection with streets and sewers will be given by Commissioner Morse in the aldermanic chamber at city hall next Monday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

Alphonse Lantagne, that a sewer be laid in Martin and Rosemont streets.

Gertrude S. Kimball and Francis Varley, that a sewer be laid in West Burdick avenue, between Stanley and Fulton streets.

Mary F. Duffy, that the sewer in Carolyn street be extended about 75 feet.

Charles Runels and others, that Harland avenue be accepted.

Thomas Mather, that a sidewalk of edgestones and cinders be laid on the easterly side of Hanks street, at the corner of Belrose avenue.

William B. Ready and others, that Bertha street be accepted and a cinder sidewalk laid.

Charles T. Killpatrick, that Maryland avenue be laid out and accepted from Stevens street westerly 350 feet.

Hugh T. Johnson and others, that Hanks street be accepted from Andover street to East Merrimack street, and that it be macadamized.

John C. O'Neill and others, that a sidewalk of edgestones and cinders be laid on both sides of State avenue from Mammoth road to Mt. Grove street, where not already laid.

Daniel H. Walker, that edgestones be laid in front of his premises, 141 Hanks street.

BOARD OF TRADE HAS PLANNED ONE FOR NOVEMBER FOR LOWELL-MADE PRODUCTS

The board of trade plans a big industrial exhibit of Lowell-made products to be held in this city in November. Only articles made in this city will be placed on exhibition and the committee in charge finds that Lowell's products may be divided under 75 heads. It is contemplated not only to exhibit the finished product but to show the process and method of production. The exhibit will continue for five days, beginning in all probability on or about November 15.

Zeebrugge, on the Belgian coast, where the Germans are supposed to have a submarine base, was again bombed today, by British warships, three vessels, bringing their heavy guns into play in the attack. The violent artillery combat on the western fighting front, is being continued. The Germans are responding to the French fire in some sectors by the use of asphyxiating shells according to the French official statement, which also reports the repulse of a German attack near Manhouf.

Unofficial circles, at least, seem convinced that a struggle between Greece and Bulgaria cannot be avoided.

ADMIRALS OPPOSED TO CHANGE

BERLIN, Sept. 25 (Via Courier to the Frontier and London, Sept. 25, 5.05 a. m.)—Admiral Von Holtzendorff, former commander of German high seas fleet, now is head of the naval general staff, succeeding Vice Admiral Bachmann.

Rear Admiral Dehmcke, vice chief of the naval general staff, also is out, and it is understood his successor will be Admiral Von Koch, inspector of marine construction at the naval academy, although this is unconfirmed.

The changes, which were made some time ago, took place in connection with the modification in the submarine policy signified by Ambassador von Bernstorff's declarations at Washington.

Opposed Modifications
The displaced admirals, it is understood, were opposed to modifications.

The naval general staff in war time is supposed to be the all-important branch of naval administration. It has charge of all operations of the fleet, directs its strategic plans and

WILLIAMS QUILTS

County Commissioner Who Was Renominated Withdraws

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 25.—Middlesex County Commissioner Chester B. Williams of Wayland, who won a three cornered fight for the republican nomination at the state primaries on Tuesday, took the unusual action today of withdrawing his name as the party candidate in the November election.

In making his withdrawal, Mr. Williams expressed the opinion that the primary was a failure and claimed that it robbed the voters of the power of making nominations, as compared with the old system of nomination by convention. Under the law, Mr. Williams' place on the ballot will be filled at a convention of the republican city and town committees of the county.

In the primary, Mr. Williams defeated John L. Dyer of Cambridge by 8000 votes and Harry A. Pennington of Cambridge by 12,000.

DUMBA MUST GO

United States Insists That Austrian Ambassador be Recalled

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Ambassador Penfield at Vienna has been instructed to make clear to the Austrian government informally that the United States must insist on the recall of Dr. Dumba, the Austrian ambassador, and that his departure "on leave of absence" would not be satisfactory.

From messages exchanged between Ambassador Penfield and the state department, it is apparent that the Austrian government, misunderstood the desires of the United States. It was intimated at first to Ambassador Penfield that the Austrian government might recall Dr. Dumba on leave of absence and might desire safe conduct for him.

Dr. Dumba telegraphed for such safe conduct a few days later, informing the state department that he had been granted leave of absence. No action was taken on his request but it was forwarded to Ambassador Penfield. Instructions sent to Mr. Penfield were not disclosed, but he has been authorized to make it clear that Dr. Dumba's usefulness as the Austrian ambassador to the United States has ceased and that if given "merely leave of absence" he would, nevertheless, still remain accredited.

The right of a government to demand the recall of an ambassador because of his personal acts, is unquestioned under international law, and according to officials, if the Austrian government persisted in refusing to recall Dr. Dumba, passports could be handed to him. There is no indication yet that this will be necessary, the delay in the Austrian government's decision, it is said, being due to difficulties in cable transmission.

It was stated officially today, that all the messages from the state department to the American embassy at Vienna had reached there.

HELD IN $10,000

St. Arnaud in Court Alleged for Murderous Assault

Charged with murderous assault upon his mother-in-law because he thought she was responsible for the separation between him and his wife, J. Omar St. Arnaud, aged about 21 years, was brought from Manchester, N. H., to this city and arraigned before Judge Enright in police court this morning.

St. Arnaud pleaded a plea of not guilty but after evidence had been submitted by three witnesses, he was adjudged probably guilty and held in $10,000 surety for the grand jury.

St. Arnaud was being held in the county jail at Manchester charged with murdering his mother-in-law, a reformatory parole officer recognized him and informed the officers he was wanted in Lowell for assault with intent to murder. He was found guilty yesterday in superior court of breaking into a penny arcade at Pine Island park, a summer resort near Manchester, and was about to be sentenced when the Lowell police put in a claim for him. As the charge in this city was much more serious, a suspended sentence was imposed for the larceny and he was brought to Lowell last night by Sergt. David Petrie.

At 2 o'clock on the morning of July 12, testified the defendant's mother-in-law, Mrs. Annie Dewar, she was awakened by the noise of some one moving about the house. She got up but could find no trace of anyone, and went back to bed and fell asleep. Two hours later she was again awakened and found a man standing over her clutching her neck with his fingers. His cap was pulled over his eyes, she said, but she immediately recognized him as her son-in-law. A tussle which lasted several minutes followed, in the bedroom where he was in the habit of sleeping.

Just before the man departed, said the witness, she felt a severe blow on her face and a moment later the blood was freely flowing. St. Arnaud departed by the front door. Mrs. Dewar notified the neighbors and medical attention was summoned to treat her wounds.

Mrs. St. Arnaud, the defendant's wife was informed of her rights of refusing to testify against her husband, but she replied she wanted to stand by her mother. She said that two nights before the assault occurred her husband walked home with her from a dance hall. Just before he left her, she stated, he displayed a white handled razor and said he had just had it sharpened for a friend. She identified a razor produced by Deputy Downing as one similar to the weapon her husband carried.

While conversing with the defendant this morning, Sergt. Petrie testified, St. Arnaud said he got drunk and went to the house but had no intention of seriously injuring his mother-in-law. The defendant had little to say in his own behalf, admitting that he went to the house about darning that he attempted to kill anyone. He said he

STATE BOARD'S PLAN
TO SETTLE STRIKEProposition That Strikers Return Pending Arbitration Being Considered—Union Shop Opposed

The strike of the United States Cartridge Co. is still unsettled but it may be settled before Monday noon.

The strike leaders, it seems, want to make the works of the Cartridge Co. a union shop and to this the company will not agree on any condition, according to the statement of Capt. Doe, general manager of the company. The state board has used its influence to bring about an agreement on the disputed points and has made considerable progress. So far as can be ascertained, were the question of union shop returned to the company, it is not willing to submit that question to arbitration.

The state board has put this proposition up to Capt. Doe: That the strikers return to work pending an investigation and a recommendation by the state board providing that the company shall agree to abide by the decision of the board on the points at issue with the exception of making the plant a union shop. They received their return to work pending that question to arbitration.

Capt. Doe and the other officials of the company are seriously considering this proposition and will probably accept it providing it is also accepted by the strikers. The board would, perhaps, be the easiest and best way of disposing of the difficulty without further delay or loss of time and it is to be hoped that both sides will adopt it. Should this mode of settling the strike be accepted the state board will deserve the praise of this community for bringing about an agreement on the threatened serious industrial disturbance.

Machinists Held Out
At a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the machinists employed by the company, held last night in Cotton Spinners' hall, Middle street, it was voted that the committee, in charge of the recent demands submitted the company continue along the same lines in demanding full recognition of the union, a 25 per cent increase in wages and an agreement including a clause to provide for arbitration in case of further differences. The company has agreed to an eight-hour day and increased wages.

Strikers Paid Off
All employees of the U. S. Cartridge Co., who are out on strike and who had wages due them for the week ending Sept. 18th were paid off at the Lawrence street plant today. More than 2000 of the strikers received their pay envelopes containing the last money owed them by the company during the morning hours and before the afternoon was out the total number received what was due them.

The work of paying off the large crowd was by no means easy and a number of regular patrolmen assisted the company's special force in maintaining order. The first to receive their money were the employees of the machine and tool departments. They received their wages at 8.20 o'clock, and from this time the paymaster assisted by a force of clerks handed out pay envelopes to employees of all departments until all were attended to.

Strike Headquarters
Nothing of importance developed at the headquarters of the strikers in Trades & Labor hall during the morning hours. Organizer Frank H. McCarthy who left the city for his home in Boston had not returned until noon. The members of the strike committee were very busy, however, receiving membership dues from the strikers who had returned from the Lawrence street plant where they received their back wages, and handing out much necessary information to pickets and others.

Had Quite a Feeling Against Mrs. Dewar
He offered to plead guilty to a charge of assault but the court ruled the matter too serious and ordered him held for the grand jury. In default of bail, St. Arnaud was committed to jail.

The case of Francis Flaherty of Portland, Me., charged with larceny of $200 from a relative, Thomas McGovern, was settled today and the complaint was filed.

George F. Toye, in relating the circumstances to the court, said that when Murphy drove over a bounce on Dutton street his lights suddenly went out. Mr. Toye said that Murphy relighted them immediately after being stopped by an officer. The case was placed by the court.

The Auto Law
William H. Murphy, a taxicab driver, pleaded guilty to violating the automobile laws by not having his front lights burning. Lawyer George F. Toye, in relating the circumstances to the court, said that when Murphy drove over a bounce on Dutton street his lights suddenly went out. Mr. Toye said that Murphy relighted them immediately after being stopped by an officer. The case was placed by the court.

Four Officers Testified Today
Patrolman Quinlan said that Donohue was so obstinate that it was necessary to use considerable force. He admitted that he and Patrolman Murphy, each holding one leg, were dragging the man down the street when somebody stepped in and held up his head. He did not remember whether Donohue was injured or whether his clothes were torn. He said that the defendant was very drunk and used profane language.

Patrolman Murphy, Hession and Lee testified that the man was drunk when arrested. Each was cross examined at length by Mr. Donohue.

DR. LAMBERT'S STATEMENT
Dr. Lambert, chairman of the school committee this afternoon issued a statement relative to the employment of two out of town school nurses. He says the matter of selection was left to Miss Holland of the Lowell guild and the nurses chosen had special training in school work. The statement will be printed in the next edition of The Sun.

MEXICANS RAID TEXAS MONEY MAKING DOG DEAD

U. S. Private Killed, Captain Wounded—U.S. Troops to Cross the Rio Grande

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Possibility that American troops might cross the Rio Grande to deal with Mexicans raiding border counties in Texas was talked of here today as a result of yesterday's border fight between United States soldiers and Mexicans near Progresso, Texas. One American soldier was killed and an officer wounded in the battle. At least four Mexicans, perhaps more, were shot down. It was reported. The soldier was Priv. Henry W. Stubblefield of Big Stone Gap, Va., and the officer Captain A. V. Anderson.

Carranza Soldiers
An incident that added to the seriousness of the situation in the eyes of war department officials was the fact, as reported by General Funston, that several hundred uniformed Mexicans on the southern border covered the retreating raiders. One report said that American army officers described some of the raiders as Carranza soldiers.

As viewed here, the incident is regarded as one of the most serious of the numerous disturbances along the border. Secretary of War Garrison was out of the city today, but a detailed report on the affair from General Funston has been telegraphed to him. General Funston, however, has full authority to take whatever measures are necessary to deal with any situation that may arise. General Funston's report was to be laid before the state department today by the war department, with a view to representations to Carranza, whose troops occupy the territory opposite Progresso.

ALL RAIDERS ESCAPE

Another Critical Turn in Turbulent Relations of Americans and Mexicans

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Sept. 25.—Another critical turn in the turbulent relations of Americans and Mexicans on the lower Texas border, was evident today as the result of yesterday's raid by Mexicans on the village of Progresso and the casualties sustained by an American army detachment which finally routed the invaders.

All of the Mexicans, probably 80 in number, were said today to have escaped into Mexico, but strong army patrols occupied every foot of the Rio Grande bank to prevent repetition of the raid.

In the interior peace officers and citizens renewed precautions to protect isolated settlements and ranches.

The escape of the Mexican raiders was regarded as one of the gravest features of yesterday's fight. When the American soldiers pursued the marauders to the river bank, it was reported by Mayor Edward Anderson of Progresso, they were met by a brisk fire from the Mexican side where apparently several hundred Mexicans were concealed. It also was reported that a number of the raiders wore khaki uniforms but whether they were connected with the Carranza garrison which hold the various border towns of Progresso and Brownsville, could not be learned. Capt. A. V. Anderson of the 12th cavalry and Private Cecil W. Kennedy, who were wounded yesterday, were reported today to be in no danger. The body of Private Henry W. Stubblefield, who was killed by the Mexicans, is being held for relatives.

WAGON HIT AUTOMOBILE

COLLISION ON MOODY STREET—WAGON SMASHED BUT NOBODY INJURED

M. Marion of Rosemont terrace, an aged man, narrowly escaped serious injury late yesterday afternoon, when his wagon crashed into an automobile at the junction of Moody and Pawtucket streets. The automobile was not damaged but the wagon was badly smashed.

Mr. Marion was driving his horse up Moody street at about 5 o'clock. The horse was galloping up the hill and when a spot was reached near the junction of Pawtucket street, the wagon collided with an automobile which had been left standing near the curbstone. Mr. Marion was thrown forcibly to the ground, but fortunately was not injured. One of the front wheels of the wagon was smashed, while the shafts were broken. The harness was also damaged. The horse freed itself from the wagon and started across the Moody street bridge at full speed, but was brought to a stop before any other damage was caused.

15 CENT SHAVES IN BOSTON
BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Starting today all Boston barber shops will tax you 15 cents for a "twice over" shave. Heretofore 10 cents was the price but the extra fifty is due to the war, the proprietors say.

Dewey, Canine King of Finance, Killed by Auto—Leaves Bank Account—Owner Mourns

"Dewey," the canine king of finance, is dead. He was killed by an automobile in Moody street, last night while gnawing a bone. He was a fox-terrier, ten years old, the property of Mrs. Anna Perron, who keeps a confectionery store near Moody and Hanover streets. The tragedy, and tragedy it is to Mrs. Perron, occurred directly opposite her store door. She was in tears this forenoon when the Sun man called to talk with her about her poor Dewey, the dog with the instincts of a money king.

But it wasn't his ability as a money getter that endeared Dewey to his mistress. She loved him for his loyalty and devotion. He was intelligent and home loving and was ever at her beck and call and always willing and pleased to do her bidding.

It has been said that in literature the dog has appeared more often than any other animal, except perhaps the horse. Sometimes he is greatly praised, and at others greatly abused. Sometimes he is made the type of what is mean, low, and contemptible; while at others he is described in terms of eulogy. Few men will forget the song of their childhood, which runs:

"Old dog Tray's ever faithful;
Strict cannot drive him away;
He is gentle, he is kind;
I'll never, never find
A better friend than old dog Tray."

Nor can any of us fail to remember the intelligent animal on whose behalf "Old Mother Hubbard" went to the cupboard.

Few men have deserved, and few have won higher praise in an epitaph than that written by Lord Byron in regard to his dead Newfoundland in 1819, and we cannot forget either that Senator Vest put the friendship and loyalty of the dog above these same qualities in man.

Lord Byron poured out his love for his dog in the epitaph and Senator Vest eulogized the dog in public, but Mrs. Perron will not write her grief in epitaph and she will not sing the praises of her dead pet in public, but down deep in her heart is a sorrow as great as Lord Byron or any other dog owner ever felt upon the occasion of their dumb friend being despatched to the happy hunting ground.

While Mrs. Perron's grief is exceptionally keen she is not the only one who mourns the loss of "Dewey." Mr. Perron was also greatly attached to the dog, but it is not man's fortune to be able to vent his grief in tears. The children in the neighborhood, too, were very fond of "Dewey" for to know him was to love him.

His Financial Instincts

It was his financial instincts, however, that won "Dewey" his widespread popularity and he was probably the only dog ever to die in Lowell with a bank account to his credit. The pennies collected by him were put in "Dewey's" bank by Mrs. Perron and in one year he collected $62.64. Mrs. Perron showed the writer the bank this morning and there must have been more than 200 pennies in it.

The reader, of course, will be interested in the dog's modus operandi as a king of finance and according to the stories told in Moody street, John D. didn't have very much on Dewey. His process was a simple one. His first act was to sit down and put up a howl so pitiful that the stranger would immediately ask what the noise was all about. A dozen children or more would immediately inform the stranger that Dewey was begging for a penny and, with his natural sympathy thoroughly excited, the stranger would hand out the penny. Then Dewey would away to his mistress with the coin, but not to hand it to her right away. Dewey had to receive candy for the penny and he was from Missouri. He had to see the candy and have it in his possession before he would pay for it, and though having received candy for it the penny was deposited in his bank, an arrangement by which Dewey's interests were properly protected. It is not possible for him to lose. Let it be said to his everlasting credit, however, that he would not accept candy without pay. If he didn't have the penny with which to buy the candy he wouldn't accept the sweet.

Dewey's knowledge of money was not confined to pennies. He could tell good bills from bad bills and proved so on various occasions. Once a good bill was thrown on the floor with a lot of stage money and Dewey's unerring financial scent ferreted out the good bill which he carried to his mistress with a look that said plainer than words, "I know what I have got."

Dewey had a fund of tricks but the most practical was that in which he proved himself a financier. The man whose automobile killed Dewey gave his name and license to Mrs. Perron, but the fact that the dog was in the middle of the street will probably relieve the automobile man of all responsibility.

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

Patrick Fells, who attended the Rochester conference of Street Railway Men as a delegate from Division 250 of this city has returned home.

Manager Walter Lyons of the South End baseball team will play basketball this winter with the Y. M. C. I. quintet. "Wally" was a member of the Belvidere team last year.

Electrical Workers' union held its regular meeting in the union rooms, Fiske building, last night but only routine business was transacted. President Hall presided.

The attitude of the U. S. Cartridge Co. toward the striking employees is practically the same as when the trouble started, according to a statement issued yesterday by Capt. Doe.

President James J. Donnelly of the Leather Workers' union and Timothy Burke, formerly president of the Trades & Labor council did some light-swinging in the whaling town while attending the state convention.

Jimmy Boland, manager of Pitts Auto Supply store will be outing in the swim at the South End meeting to be held tomorrow, according to a statement made by him to the writer last evening.

Officer Ginnell of the U. S. Cartridge Co.'s special force was the anchor man on the team which won from the office force on the alleys last night. He rolled the high total of the evening and also the high single string.

Meetings of the U. S. Cartridge strikers will hereafter be held behind closed doors. This was decided upon at the mass meeting yesterday morning. The charter of the new organization is expected to arrive the first of next week.

Millmen's union, local 1468, held a short business session in Carpenter's hall last evening. Business of minor importance was transacted and a number of committee reports were favorably acted upon.

Bricklayers' union held its regular weekly business meeting last night in the union quarters, Middle street, with President F. J. Warren in the chair. A gist of routine business was transacted after which several interesting trade topics were discussed.

Organizer Thomas F. McMahon left this afternoon for Bridgeport where he is to assume the leadership of several hundred members of the United Textile Workers' union who are out on strike. He will probably return to this city again next Wednesday.

General Executive Board Member Robert Fechner of the International Association of Machinists who spoke before the Billerica machinists Thursday night will probably take charge of the machinists' troubles in Bridgeport. He left Lowell for the Connecticut city yesterday morning.

Commissioners Wood and Bump of the state board of arbitration and conciliation who came to this city Thursday in an attempt to patch up the difficulties between the strikers and the company left for other fields yesterday afternoon. They are expected to return to Lowell on Monday.

The local delegates who attended the Massachusetts state branch convention of the American Federation of Labor held in New Bedford this week came home with no good impressions of the whaling town. One of the delegates said the coast city would make a good back yard for the city of Lowell.

Michael Wrenn, the athletic member of the U. S. Cartridge Co.'s special force, will endeavor to smash one or two sprint records next summer. While practicing in a local tank recently he equalled the record for 30 yards and went better than the record for 50 yards. Neither of his splendid attempts were officially timed and as a result no record marks can be credited to him.

John J. Downing, president of the Stationary Firemen's union showed up at Trades & Labor hall last night for the first time since his return from New Bedford where he represented the local organization at the state convention.

Mr. Downing asked the writer to spare his feelings and not talk about the convention town with its exhilarating drinking water. Mr. Downing has been on the sick list since his return as a result of drinking the water in the convention city.

The boys tried to kid Conductor Conley and Motorman Lyons into running their car to Lakeview last night but without success. The car was scheduled to run as far as Canney's corner only, and that's just about as far as it went. Threats of stealing the controller, suspension from duty and expulsion from the union were tried by the boys but all to no avail and they were left to hike a distance of about a mile while therolley was switched around and the car started towards Lowell. Maybe the young fellows didn't cheer the street railway men enough.

The September period is the first quarter of the new fiscal year and it is very easy to point the direction to the course of earning during the entire 12 months. The company's gross sales for the last three months have been at an annual rate of slightly better than $20,000,000, which is an improvement of some 5 per cent over the volume of sales during the 1914 year and $2,500,000 larger than in 1914. During the 1915 fiscal session the company has reduced its bonded debt by $352,000.

GILBRIDE CO.'S OPENING

GREAT ATTRACTIONS IN MILLINERY AND OTHER DEPTS. AT THIS POPULAR STORE

The Gilbride Department store, and otherwise known as the business corner, yesterday was the scene of a happy throng of ladies who were out on dress parade attending one of the largest millinery openings in our city as well as the most attractive. Here could be seen some of the most beautiful creations of the millinery art. Judging from the way the salesladies were receiving orders it certainly looked as though there would be no trouble with business this season. We will not go into any special description of any hat or bonnet but will be content by suggesting that the ladies look at their beautiful window display and they will see something perhaps much better than they have ever seen before. Not only the windows but the show cases and forms are beautiful. The store never looked more attractive for its elegance in appearance and its high grade of merchandise. The suit and cloak department on the second floor is certainly a place where the most fastidious persons would be able to get what they want in suit, gown, coat, and judging from the prices on the tickets it might easily be called the bargain store.

The basement is fully stocked with everything in the domestic line and this place was thoroughly inspected by the throng of people that filled the store. The company's display windows this year are a masterpiece and show more attractiveness than ever. The design, particularly the back ground, being black and white with an endless display of scroll work which gives a beautiful effect new in this part of the country, and with the millinery display of pattern hats in the window as well as suits and dresses make a very rich and attractive exhibit.

The manager Mr. John J. Burns has shown wonderful ability in getting up such an elegant fall and winter opening. This exhibit will continue throughout the day.

BON MARCHE OPENING

FOR THE EFFORTS OF THIS EMPLOYMENT OUTDORE IN WINDOW DISPLAYS AND ATTRACTIONS

Yesterday was gala day at this popular department store and with a page announcement in The Sun it attracted thousands of ladies to this great emporium of style and fashion. The Bon Marche has had many beautiful openings in the past, but its record for outings in the past has been surpassed in yesterday's display, both in the windows and the interior. The millinery window in particular was a marvel of beauty both in millinery and artistic decoration. The upper millinery window nearest Kirk street was most attractively adorned, and the display of pattern hats and other shapes, most beautifully trimmed, attracted everybody's attention. The other mammoth window at the right of the entrance, which is decked in designs from autumn leaves and flowers, is even more beautiful, both in trimming and display of millinery ornaments used in the art. Passing to the next window we find suits, dresses, shirt waists, fur goods and everything in outside garments, and a person might feel proud to be able to wear any of these beautifully made garments. The dress goods window is certainly a very beautiful exhibit and includes silks and satins and all the beautiful fabrics of the season, both in material and manufactured goods, and so it goes all through the window display.

The basement is also well worth a visit, as it never was more attractive in general appearance than this season, and the sweet music from the Victor victrolas makes a person feel like lingering a long time, and with the other beautiful cut glass and china display lends enchantment to the exhibit. There is statuary, china and an endless variety of kitchen ware and utensils, linens and various other domestic wares. Going from the basement to the ground floor, the new dust proof showcases through the entire store and the newly installed cash system and the various other new fixtures and everything modernized in the store, replete with a large stock of fall and winter goods of everything in wearing apparel, jewelry and furnishings and almost an endless variety makes this place interesting to young and old. The second floor is the cloak and suit department. There are hundreds of forms adorned with furs, silk and satin suits, coats and an endless variety more beautiful than ever.

Also may be seen rugs, carpets and household furnishings, and, in a word, it may be said that this exhibit of the Bon-Marche surpasses all others. Mr. Gilmore, the general manager, says that trade is brisk and everybody appears to be happy and prosperous, and while all Europe is in war and misery the Bon Marche and its patrons are enjoying contentment, prosperity and happiness, judging from the great throngs that visited this store yesterday.

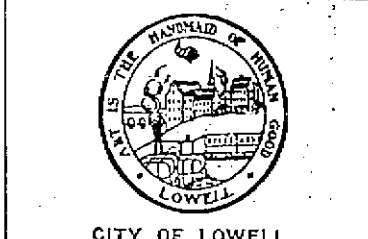

As formerly, the Bon Marche will have its opening exhibition today to continue during the evening.

Both wore bridal caps of white Irish lace. The bride carried lilies of the valley, while the bridesmaid carried azaleas. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a gold locket, and to the bridesmaid a gold cross set with emeralds. The best man received a gold chain. Previous to the ceremony a luncheon was served at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. J. F. Connolly, 108 Agawam street. At the close of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the couple, 171 Smith street, where a supper was served, about 200 guests being present from Keene, N. ## NURSES PROTEST

They Express Indignation at the Action of School Board

About 50 local nurses met at the Y. W. C. A. rooms in John street late yesterday afternoon for the purpose of entering a protest against the recent action of the school board in appointing two out-of-town nurses for school work. The meeting was one of indignation and many of those present expressed themselves in emphatic terms, condemning the action of the school committee and a committee was appointed to confer with the board in an endeavor to have them rescind their action and consider local nurses for the positions.

The meeting was opened by Miss Anna Nash, president of St. John's Hospital Nurses' alumni, who was unanimously chosen to preside over the meeting. Miss Nash in opening said:

"The appointment recently of two nurses by the school board calls for action on our part. We must protest and ask that the board receive our protest and listen to us. We want protection in order that our nurses' associations may grow to that importance to merit the confidence of the public.

"Such action, calling in and appointing nurses from outside places, while local nurses waited and expected favorable consideration, must be seriously taken up by us and our first duty demands the appointment of a committee to confer with the school board on the matter."

Miss Nash then spoke of the training given the nurses at the local hospitals and she said such action as calling in outside nurses is unjustified. She informed the gathering that nurses who have called on Miss Holland of the Lowell guild were told that special training was required for school work. She said that she knows two nurses who are heavy taxpayers, and who applied to Miss Holland, and were told to take the special training. Miss Nash also made the statement that the meeting of indignation was held and she closed by saying: "We should vote the school board out and vote a new board in."

Mrs. F. D. Holland, a member of the nurses' association, said that as she understood it, there is special training required for school work. She said there is a great deal of social work connected with it, that requires special preparation and she states the position calls for a civil service examination, as there is a state law applying to school and district nurses. Several of those present warmly opposed the need of special training for school work. There was expression of opinion from some of the nurses, to the effect, that, if special training is required and Lowell nurses want work, they should be willing to qualify.

The following were appointed on a committee to wait upon the school board and state their position in the matter and the meeting adjourned.

Miss Anna Nash, St. John's hospital; Mrs. H. C. Stewart, Lowell General; Miss H. G. Hennessy, Lowell hospital; and Miss Eva Leader, state infirmary at Tewksbury.

MRS. SCHIFFMACHER, SERIOUSLY INJURED WHEN LARGE TOURING CAR SKIDDED

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Mrs. Frank M. Schiffmacher, wife of President Schiffmacher of the Olmstead-Plant company of Boston, was seriously hurt early last evening when a large touring car, owned and driven by James J. Brooks of 30 Sewall street, Somerville, skidded and drove head-on into the machine in which Mr. and Mrs. Schiffmacher were riding.

The accident took place on the Spot Pond road in the Middlesex Fells, which had just been wet down by a light shower.

Mrs. Schiffmacher was cut about the head and there was a large gash under her right eye. She was taken to Medford for medical attention and then removed to her home.

Mrs. Dubey seriously hurt—Husband dead—Rocky Point scene of tragedy

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 25.—John Dubey, 43, of Haverhill, fired two shots at his wife yesterday in one of the concession stands at Rocky Point, one bullet striking her in the head and the other in the right shoulder.

He then turned the revolver upon himself and fired it. He was killed almost instantly. The woman was taken to the Rhode Island hospital, where her condition was pronounced critical.

The police have been endeavoring to find a motive for Dubey's act. So far as they can learn, the man was despondent through being out of work for a long time, and was also offended because his wife refused to give him money with which to pay a debt he had contracted in Haverhill. They have been running a concession at Rocky Point this season.

Prof. Nedo Simoni, of the University of Sassari, Japan, spent three years in Berlin and later in the Naples university. His specialties are geography and volcanoes. ## EIGHT MEN SHOT

Street Fight in Akron.

Ohio—Two Men Arrested After Struggle

AKRON, O., Sept. 25.—Eight men were shot, one seriously, in a street fight early today. Two men have been arrested. John Justice, aged 45, has a bullet in his head and has lost one eye. He is in a hospital. Those under arrest are Paul Harkins, 19, a rubber worker, who is charged with shooting with intent to kill, and Harry Douglas, held for carrying concealed weapons. Douglas is also wounded. Harkins was captured by a squad of police who fought their way into the basement of a house near the scene of the fighting, where Harkins had barricaded himself with a shotgun. Those shot, in addition to Justice and Douglas are: Lawrence Conklin, William Y. Haskin, Clarence Rutan, Jefferson Root, Charles Root and Charles Adams. Police claim that Harkins, Douglas and Justice, a son of John Justice, engaged in an argument in the street which led to a fight, attracted the other men and was followed by shooting on the part of Harkins who, the officers say, fired twice into the crowd. Several men fell and Harkins fled.

THE BOARD OF TRADE

There will be something doing at the board of trade for the first few days of next week. On Monday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock a meeting of the executive committee will be held, while Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock a hearing will be conducted on the proposed six-cent fare all over the Bay State Street Railway Co.'s system. The public is cordially invited to attend this hearing, particularly those who would have something to say pro or con on the proposition. On Wednesday forenoon an adjourned meeting of the merchants of this city will be held at the same place for the purpose of completing arrangements for "Fashion Week," and also incidentally to take action on either opening or closing the stores Thursday afternoons during October.

GILLEY GETS LICENSE

At a special meeting of the license commission this forenoon a first class liquor license was granted to John J. Gilley, as a common victualer, at 123 Fayette street. This license was formerly held by Clarence P. Cunningham at the same address and is the last of the 105 granted by the commission. About six months ago, Mr. Cunningham filed a petition in bankruptcy and it was for the purpose of straightening out the bankruptcy proceedings that the license was not granted in May.

CARDINAL GOTTI ILL

Fainted and Fell in His Office Striking His Head Violently on the Floor

ROME, via Paris, Sept. 25, 11.10 p.m.—Cardinal Jerome Mary Gotti, prefect of the propaganda, fainted and fell in his office today, striking his head violently on the floor, says the Idea Nazionale.

He suffered a slight concussion of the brain and his condition was considered grave because of his age—81 years.

Cardinal Gotti was appointed to the cardinalate in 1905. The office he holds is one of the most influential in the Catholic church. All strictly missionary lands are under the propaganda.

JITNEY LICENSE CASES

WILL GO TO SUPREME COURT TO DETERMINE LEGALITY OF ORDINANCE

Whether or not the municipal ordinance relative to the operation of jitney buses within the limits of this city is unconstitutional is a question for the supreme court to decide, ruled Judge Enright in police court this forenoon when Joseph C. Scribner and Jacob F. Forgas were arraigned on continuance, charged technically with operating motor buses for the purpose of carrying passengers without licenses from the license commission. His Honor, after being informed that the cases would go to the high court, made a formal finding of guilty and imposed a fine of $20 in each case.

When the cases were tried last Saturday Atty. Daniel F. Donahue admitted that the defendants had violated the city ordinance but argued that said ordinance was unfair, unreasonable and therefore illegal. After considering the matter for a week, Judge Enright said: "I find after careful study of this case that it is a question of whether or not this statute is constitutional. One of the conditions is that bonds must be furnished by an insurance company duly authorized under the laws of Massachusetts. It has been brought out here that insurance companies refuse to grant the insurance, thereby prohibiting the business. A question then arises as to whether the ordinance is constitutional but that is not for me to decide."

The jitney operators drove to court in their machines and a few minutes after the finding was made, were seen doing business between Merrimack square and Gorham street.

BODY NOT IDENTIFIED

SOME DOUBT AS TO THE IDENTITY OF SUICIDE SAID TO BE ARTHUR BELANGER

The body of the man who committed suicide by jumping into the Suffolk canal a few days ago, still lies unidentified at the morgue of Undertaker Joseph Albert in Alton street. The body was brought there shortly after the fatal jump and the following day a woman was viewed and said she believed it was that of Arthur Belanger of Manchester, N. H.

The Manchester police were notified and all efforts on their part to locate relatives of the dead man were fruitless. There is nothing certain that the man was Arthur Belanger, for the woman who identified said she saw the man but once, and the features of the dead man greatly resembled those of Belanger. Undertaker Albert stated today he will bury the body tomorrow unless it is identified before that time.

MERK ST. MERCHANTS

PLAN FOR BIG CELEBRATION OF WHITE WAY EXTENSION ON MONDAY EVENING, SEPT. 27

The members of the Upper Merrimack Street Business Men's association have completed all arrangements for the fall opening of the district which includes Merrimack street from Colburn to Cabot, the affair to be held Monday evening, Sept. 27, and the public in general is invited to visit the locality, for it will be worth their while to take a stroll in upper Merrimack street next Monday evening.

It will be remembered that the district held a celebration of its own on the occasion of the opening of the white way, and all will also remember that the celebration, unique as it was, proved a very big success. At that time the merchants of the district offered special inducements to purchasers and the following day a thriving business was reported by all interested.

The fall opening will also be marked by a special celebration and from the hours of 7.30 and 9.30 the visitors will be given a real musical treat, one of the best brass bands of the city having been hired for the occasion. The band will start playing at the junction of Colburn and Merrimack streets and will work its way down to Cabot, playing at the intersection of streets. Real fire will be burned along the line, while the decorations will be splendid. Additional clerks will be hired by the various owners for that evening, and all the purchasers will be given a cordial reception, while their interests will be looked after in the top shape. The merchants have agreed to pay no favors to buyers.

The leading factors in the fall opening observance are J. C. Manseau, Thomas J. Fitzgerald and John A. Osgood. These men have solicited funds among the business men to carry the event to a successful end and they have been well received by all. Even the members of Home Co. No. 8 have given their financial aid.

dispositions and issues the orders under which all units of the navy operate. In time of peace it was overshadowed by Admiral Von Tirpitz and the ministry of marine, owing to the dominant personality of Von Tirpitz. Even in the stress of war, Von Tirpitz has been able to exercise considerable influence on the naval policy.

New Chief Big Man of Navy

The new chief, Von Holtzendorff, is one of the big men of the navy. Emperor William gave him command of the high seas fleet at the outset of the dreadnought era, when the advent of the all big gun type of battleship made Germany a dangerous rival of Great Britain and until just before the war began when he was succeeded by Admiral Von Ingenohl, who in turn gave way last spring to Admiral Von Pohl.

A Typical Seaman

The new chief of the naval staff, with his bushy snow white beard, his square, thick set frame and his frank, positive manner, is a typical seaman.

He carries marks of force written all over him—an impression which is heightened by his deliberate but thoroughly frank speech—and enjoys the respect of naval officers generally.

He is the Associated Press correspondent has good reason to believe, firmly committed to the new line of submarine policy in regard to passenger steamers, and is thoroughly convinced no more of them will be sunk as he considers the measures now being taken adequate to prevent all possibility of accident or error.

Instructions to U-Boat Commanders

Submarine commanders have been instructed not only not to torpedo passenger steamers without warning them, and giving passengers and crew an opportunity to escape, unless the liners attempt to fight or run away when hailed, but also to adopt the safe course when there is doubt as to the identity of the ship, and not fire a torpedo unless absolutely convinced of a hostile intent.

There have been no developments in the submarine question from the German side since the dispatch to Ambassador Von Bernstorff of the instructions under which the new line of negotiations in Washington. The Berlin government merely is awaiting information as to the progress of negotiations, believing its ambassador's instructions an ample basis for the settlement of outstanding questions of submarine warfare unless the United States should change its attitude on new issues. The new orders issued to submarine commanders, it is thought, provide satisfactory regulations for the future regarding liners.

In preparation for the submission of the Arabic case to arbitration under The Hague convention, should the two governments be unable to agree directly, the government already has taken into consideration the evidence regarding the intent of the Arabic captain in steering on a suspicious course. Should it be established, it is the unanimous opinion of German statesmen that the case was acting innocently. Germany will not hesitate to admit that such was the case, with the necessary consequences. Germany probably will offer to submit the question of reparation for American lives lost on the Lusitania as well as on the Arabic to The Hague for adjustment.

continuing their successes all along the southern end of the line and have even extended their successful entrance as far as Logoschin to the northwest of Pinsk, where Field Marshal Von Mackensen has met with a set back.

German Naval Staff Changes

The recent modification of the German submarine policy, it was indicated, increased guarantee of safety of passenger vessels has been followed by a change in the personnel of the German naval staff. Vice Admiral Hermann Dehne, of the staff, and rear admiral Hehnke, vice chief, who are understood to have been opposed to the modifications, have retired. Admiral Von Holtzendorff, former commander of the German high seas fleet, is the new chief of staff.

THREE DISTINCT RUSSIAN VICTORIES RECORDED ALMOST SIMULTANEOUSLY

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The position of the Russians from Vilna to the Galician frontier appears to have been improved greatly, three distinct victories having been recorded almost simultaneously at widely scattered points on the eastern front. This achievement has obligated to some extent the uneasiness felt in England as to the attitude of Bulgaria. In the far north the situation is less favorable for Russians. They are resisting Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's men with characteristic stubbornness on the southern end of the line in a manner recalling the fighting of last spring. Athens states that mobilization is proceeding today and that thousands of men are already in uniform. It is predicted that within a few days, a majority of the reservists will have joined the colors.

Rusians Score Heavily

East of Vilna north of Pinsk and in the vicinity of Lutsk, the Russians have scored heavily.

The Germans characterize their victories east of Vilna—that is at the Vitebsk railway junction—as of a temporarily advanced nature notwithstanding their losses of guns and prisoners. Near Pinsk Field Marshal Von Mackensen was thrown back in an engagement that has shaken his grip on the city. Farther south, the Russians, now holding Lutsk are pressing their advantage and seem to be assuming temporary dominance on the southern end of the line in a manner recalling the fighting of last spring. Athens states that mobilization is proceeding today and that thousands of men are already in uniform. It is predicted that within a few days, a majority of the reservists will have joined the colors.

SOME MUNICIPAL PLANS

The war experts tell us that much more active fighting is not to be expected from some of the scenes of war, owing to the unfavorable weather. The snow and ice are coming and the respective sides will dig themselves in to opposing trenches and wait for a more propitious season.

This may be good war tactics but is it good politics when adopted by a municipal body? In local political circles a few months ago we heard plans for great things. We were to have a new high school annex, a contagious hospital, a bridge and some other things of like importance. What has become of them all? How far have they been advanced? Can it be that they are dead for a season and that those who fostered them fondly will revive them should fortune send another and a kinder spring?

We are quickly floating into October and winter when nothing very ambitious in the building or developing line is attempted. In a short time, street maintenance and repairs will get down to a routine basis, and larger plans will be laid over. Surely this is not the time to start a new high school, or a hospital, or a bridge, or a street extension. All of the lovely and costly things will have to wait, and it is more than doubtful that some of them will come for many years. Why then did we hear so much about them a few months ago, and why do we hear so little about them today?

The practical politician tells us that there's a reason. He figures it out like this: If you tell the people that you will do six or seven great things, they are going to vote for you again so that you can do them next year. This may be so and again it may not, but it would seem that the plans for so many momentous improvements were nicely timed so that after a little puttering and talk about preliminaries, winter would intervene without seeing their accomplishment. It is also a truth of practical politics that sometimes you can get away with talk about improvements but you fall into the mire when you attempt them. Sometimes a bridge in the air, so to speak, is worth two in the blue prints, for when bridges get to the blue print stage some things must be definitely settled.

Some people of a kind and unsuspecting nature may say that there is no political chicanery in the actions of the municipal council. This makes the matter worse. If all of the plans were talked about and voted on with sincerity, there is a lack of ability somewhere. Surely if the men behind the many costly schemes had any idea of business we should see some of them nearer realization.

The city needs a new high school annex; it needed it two years ago and it will need it more than ever next year. The city needs a new bridge at Pawtucketville, but it cannot afford to take the word of any interested engineer from out of town as to the best bridge to have, especially when this is opposed by the warnings of local experts of authority; the city must erect a contagious disease hospital, and the sooner the better. All citizens will agree on these points. Can any citizen show where the municipal council has made a satisfactory plan for any one of these improvements? It is for the voters of Lowell to decide whether it is wise or sensible to be fooled any longer by false promises and plans that never materialize.

HAMPTON BEACH FIRE

The warning that was given at Old Orchard and at Salisbury beach was not heeded by Hampton beach, which has now paid a heavy penalty for its neglect. There is nothing surprising about the fire under the circumstances and the real surprise is that it did not come sooner. What else can be expected at a beach resort where the houses are of the flimsiest variety and built close together of inflammable materials without adequate provision for fire prevention or fire fighting? Hampton beach was not a greater offender in this respect than many other beaches, but to each and all the day of revelation will come when fire shall sweep their tinsel properties and destroy most of them.

One of the most regrettable features of the Hampton beach fire was that with the cheap cottages and stores many really fine buildings went up in smoke. The Ashworth, the Grand View hotel, the Javrin, and many other beach hotels well known to the people of this city, were swept away and though the total loss is not estimated at more than $250,000, this is a great deal for a beach fire. It must now seem foolish to the owners of some of the finer properties that they invested so much money where the risks were so great. Children playing with matches and a stiff wind can make short work of a beach prospect when the houses are of wood and when the water supply is weak. The wonder is that any building was left on the beach proper, and it is probable that had the wind not shifted there would be little left except the sand and the ocean.

Old Orchard learned its lesson to some extent and renewed the beach buildings on a better scale while making more adequate fire-fighting preparations. Satisfactory, too, showed improvement and some of its largest hotels are now constructed out of concrete and other non-inflammable materials. Hampton must follow suit when it gets down to the work of renewal and improvement must be shown in the new buildings together with some thorough system of the lighting. It is high time we saw that the world does not hold a stranger invitation to fire than the average American beach resort.

THE LIBRARY LEAGUE

We note with pleasure the formation of a library league for the promotion of a love of good reading among the children of the city and we wish for the venture the fullest measure of success. The proposition goes deeper than the mere fostering of a love for good reading as one of its main objects is to see that only the best books are secured and placed in the hands of the young. This is an object in which all who have loved books or read much in their infancy can aid without reservation. The rules for the active members under 15 are quite practical. They include a determination to handle library books carefully with clean hands, to be quiet and orderly in the children's room, and to invite others to join. Adults who join the league are asked among other things to advocate the reading of good books among the residents of their respective neighborhoods, and to co-operate in every practical way that would spread the influence of good books among the young of the city. Now when so much time of the juveniles is spent at the movies or in pursuits that leave no permanent benefit if they are not positively injurious, it is well indeed to see people banded together for such an inspiring and worthy object.

STORE WINDOWS

One of the phases of the coming fashion week in this city, according to published plans, will be a live competition between the leading stores in the matter of window displays. This calls attention to a feature of modern business not often mentioned in the press but of very special interest. Window trimming has become an art of trade in the truest sense, and it has possibilities which are only just being developed. In the larger cities the standards of good taste are being adhered to more and more and the effects are frequently so beautiful as to compel admiration and study. Window trimming is no longer the mere filling of a large space with merchandise; it is the artistic arrangement of form and color so as to convey a definite message, and so planned as to make a picture in which the details are subservient to one central idea. Three articles well arranged so as to be attractive in line and color will make a more striking effect than a jumble of goods without thought or design. Lowell is better off in this respect than the average city, and fashion week should give us some rare revelations of good taste and good business arrangement.

TIT FOR TAT

In retaliation for the aerial attacks on London, the greatest aerial fleet used at one time since the war started made a raid on Stuttgart, Württemberg, last Wednesday and did some effective work. Most of the attacks were directed against the army barracks, the railroad station and the royal palace. A despatch from Switzerland states that one wing of the royal palace, in which were members of the royal family, was damaged, and the American consul has sent word to Washington that the American consulate was struck by a fragment of a bomb. This brings to a point the discussion as to what this country should do should one of the Zeppelin bombs damage American property or take American life in London, for our government will view such attacks in the same light, whether by the Germans or by the allies. It is difficult to blame the allies for retaliation after a Zeppelin attack on London or any other English city but as seen in this country two wrongs do not make a right, even in war time.

A HOBBO REFUGEE

Jeff Davis, the noted proprietor of the Hotel de Gink in New York, has hit on a plan to utilize Uncle Sam's old warships and incidentally give a haven of refuge to 4000 hobos for the winter. Going through Philadelphia after having had an interview with President Wilson at Washington he saw 15 obsolete battleships in the channel, and immediately he thought that there was a fine opportunity for a deal. He is going to get Secretary Daniels for eight of the ships. There are features of the plan that merit serious consideration. It would take away the hobos that are exploited every winter by social misanthropes it would do good. If the ship-haul vessels would come to the rescue of those destined for the human trash heap, good again. But, better than all, if the ships should some stormy night drift out to sea and on to some desert island where Davis and his merry men would have to work or starve—ah, there's the great consideration. Let them have the ships by all means.

A FATAL FROLIC

As the result of a class clash, common in the larger colleges, Lynn Fuller of Washington, D. C., died Wednesday night at Stanford University, Cal. This is the second death from that cause in the history of the university but in one form or another all universities have had such experiences. Modern thought is against such dangerous happenings, and Americans fail to see why centres of education and culture should degenerate to the level of the savage. Hazing, class rivalries, extremes in sport and such things have no place in a university or college conducted on civilized and Christian principles. Had the death of young Fuller happened on the streets during a riot, somebody would be charged with manslaughter. Why is the crime different on the campus of a university where the pupils are supposed to be intelligent young gentlemen?

SUBWAY DISASTER

Over one hundred witnesses will be examined at the New York investigation into the subway disaster. The papers make a great deal of this fact, but, after all, what does it amount to? The man who was in the street car will testify that it fell into a hole, the laborer will testify that he saw the roof of the subway tumble down, and the policeman will tell how he heard a roar, saw the confusion and rang for the fire department. Graphic stories will not make reparation for the damage or provide against a repetition of the accident. Better far that the investigators have a clever lawyer who knows the regulations and that he demand an explanation from city officials and railroad officials. Hearing too many witnesses whose testimony is mostly irrelevant is one of the weaknesses of our manifold investigations.

If the bankers of this country are pro-English, they do not show it. The public expected that the loan to the allies would be negotiated without delay but as yet both sides are haggling as to terms. American business is sentimental on occasions but in a strictly business matter it is pro-American first. The longer the delay, the sander will be the ultimate transaction.

Germany has given in to the American government so far as the last note on the Frye goes. Actions speak louder than words and we shall see what we shall see.

And the promise of one campaign may become the piffle of the next!

A lively campaign and live issues!

SEEN AND HEARD

A party of young men and women, members of a skating club, were motoring along a country road. Just within the fence on the left grew innumerable graceful stalks, each bearing globes of pale green that shaded into gray and purple.

"How enchanting!" exclaimed one young woman.

"Do tell me," said another young woman, equally enthusiastic, to a gardener standing near, "what these beautiful things are."

"Them? Them's onions gone to seed."

Suffrage and Mine-Pie

A speaker at a Boston rally invited questions the other evening and a young man asked this one:

"Suppose a woman doesn't want to vote."

"That reminds me of a story," said the speaker. "A man once went into a restaurant in a country town, and after finishing his meat and potatoes looked up inquiringly at the waitress who was standing near."

"Pie?" she asked in a very compelling manner.

"Is it compulsory?" asked the man.

"No, sir," replied the waitress. "It's mine."

The speaker was rewarded by a laugh from the audience.

But the inquirer wasn't satisfied. "I don't get the point," he insisted. "Do you mean to say that if a woman doesn't want to vote she can eat a piece of mine-pie?"

"No," replied the speaker patiently. "What I mean to say is that if a woman doesn't want to vote she needn't vote."

Luke McLuke Says:
Many a man has gone to bed by candle light so as to save enough money to enable his son to leave the electric lights burn all night.

Some beauty may be skin deep. But most of it rubs off when you touch it. You may not believe it. But there are men in this country who eat five times a day and vote the prohibition ticket.

A woman will sit around the house for four days and make up her mind to do a thing. Then she will get up and do something else.

One reason why mother knows that the children have more sense than their father is because they never complain if the tablecloth happens to be soiled.

When you take a better half prepare for the worst.

After all, play is merely work that you are not compelled to do, and for which you receive no pay.

After a girl has been on the bargain shelf for a few years she doesn't find it difficult to make her ideal man conform to the exact specifications of the man who is willing to take her.

Before he gets her she tells him that her hands are cold because a cold hand is a sign of a warm heart. After he gets her he discovers that both her hands and her feet have joined her hands.

There are all sorts of people in the world, including the man who likes to attend funerals in order to ride in rubber-tired hacks.

Talking about being busy! The man who has charge of a plant that employs 50,000 men is a leader when compared with a woman who is trying to raise six small children.

A smile may hide a man's thoughts, just as paint occasionally conceals a woman's complexion.

A soldier on leave tells how birds were the allies of a gas attack. Long before the smell of the fumes can be detected in the air there is a great glimmering of birds awakened from their night perch. The birds fly away beyond the reach of the fumes, but in the meantime the British soldier is prepared.

A certain matron alludes to a gown of hers as a "quarrel dress."

"I always wear it," she explains, "when I have had a quarrel with my husband."

"But why do you call it a quarrel dress?"

"Because it is the only gown I have that doesn't button in the back. Consequently, I don't have to call on the old grumbler to help me."

Outward Bound
(By an officer who has since fallen in Gallipoli.)

There's a waterfall! I'm leaving Running down the rocks in foam, There's a post for which I'm grieving. Near the water-ouzel's chamber And it's there that I'd be lying.

With the heather close at hand, And the cornfields faintly crying, 'Mid the wastes of Cumberland.

While the midnight watch is winking, The thoughts of other days arise, I can hear the rattling of the chains, Like the saints in Paradise; I can see the water winding, Like the merry eyes of Pan, And the silver hoar-frost sinking By the bridge's granite span.

Ah! to win them back and clamber, Braced and with winds I love, From the river's stilled chamber To the morning mist above, See through cloud-rifts rent asunder, Ridge and hollow telling under, To the fringes of the world.

Now the weary guard are sleeping, Now the great redoubts are dumb, Now the harbor lights are creeping Into emptiness astern, While the sentry wakes and watches, And the sentry watches and watches, Where the water leaps and catches At our escort in the night.

Great their happiness who seeing Still with unthought eyes, Kin of earth who gave them being, Sun and earth that made them wise, Die and feel their embers quicken Year by year, from term to term, When the cotton grasses thicken On the hills they used to climb.

Shall we also be as they be, Mingled with our mother clay, Or return no more it may be? Who has knowledge, who shall say? This is the end of the term, Of our shaggy father Pan, When the earth breaks into blossom Richer from the dust of man.

Though the high gods smite and slay us, Though we come not whence we go, As the host of Medea's army, Come there many years ago; Yet the self-same wind shall bear us From the same departing place Out across the Gulf of Saros, And the peaks of Samothrace.

We shall pass in summer weather, We shall come at eventide, Who the fells stand up together And all quiet things abide; Mixed with cloud and wind and river, Sun-dimmed in dew and rain, One with the dust of the earth, We shall go not forth again.

Backache Is a Warning

LOWELL PEOPLE SHOULD NOT NEGLECT THEIR KIDNEYS

Backache is often nature's most frequent signal of weakened kidneys. To cure the pains and aches, to remove the lameness when it arises from weakened kidneys, you must reach the cause—the kidneys. If you have pain through the small of your back, urinary disorders, headaches, dizzy spells, or any nervous and depressed, start treating the kidneys with a tested kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills have been proved good and are especially for weak kidneys. Doan's have been used in kidney trouble for over 50 years. Read Lowell testimony.

A. F. Hutchinson, farmer, 62 Bellevue St., Lowell, Mass., says: "I had been troubled by my kidneys for some time and my back often pained me badly. My kidneys didn't act as they should. I could not ask for anything better to give me relief than Doan's Kidney Pills. They relieved my back and regulated the action of my kidneys. I always keep Doan's Kidney Pills in the house and use them as I feel the need. They never fail to do good work."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Hutchinson had. Foster-McMillan Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

HAMPTON BEACH

Plans for Rebuilding—Blaze Accidental Says Fire Chief

HAMPTON BEACH, N. H., Sept. 25.—The disastrous fire of Thursday, which swept over acres of the most thickly built part of Hampton Beach, has, according to the leading men of the beach, taught them a lesson, and from now on the building ordinances of the town will be made more stringent, so that there will not be a repetition of the disaster.

The town authorities admit that the fire would not have got such a start if it were not for the inflammable materials used in the construction of a number of buildings along the beach front.

The insurance underwriters and town officials place the loss yesterday at $200,000 and claim that there is not more than $125,000 insurance.

Many of the cottages were not insured and practically all of the hotels did not carry more than half insurance. L. C. Ring of Hampton is the principal loser and he estimates his loss at about $40,000 with only $15,000 insurance. The Ashworth hotel had $18,000 insurance against a loss of $35,000, and was about the proportion on all buildings here.

Yesterday there was a most encouraging air about the beach and all of the property owners say that they will rebuild as soon as the debris is sufficiently cool to be cleared away. George Ashworth has been hard hit since he entered the hotel business here. He lost his first house two years ago and the second hotel destroyed in the fire was the best on the beach. He stated yesterday that he would rebuild and hoped for better luck with the third attempt.

There was an attempt yesterday to inject the professional rebury theory into the minds of the fire but Chief Ring of the fire department discredited the report, saying he is confident it was the careless work of children.

around, it was the general expectation of bankers today, an agreement will have been reached over the details of the proposed loan. Tentative proposals at present fix the maximum at $500,000,000 with the possibility that the sum may be lower. Interest rate would be five per cent with in reality be greater, it is said, inasmuch as the notes would be sold slightly below par.

Whether negotiations had reached the point where a tentative program had been placed before the British and French governments for approval was a matter upon which Wall Street speculated today. One banker, presumably well informed, asserted that nothing had been finally decided on.

Your petition asking me to become a candidate for the position of Commissioner at the next election, coming as it does from all sections of the city and representing almost exclusively the tax-paying silent voters irrespective of party, cannot be otherwise than gratifying to any man.

It is certainly the only proper way of introducing a candidate. And if it means anything it is a protest against the principle of having men in control who are compelled to trim and vacillate on all questions of public interest for the fear of prejudicing their re-election.

THE PROCESS OF

STATE BOARD KEPT BUSY

Many people are under the impression that the members of the state board of conciliation and arbitration have nothing to do but sit in their luxuriously appointed offices in the state house and take life easy while the state pays them a handsome salary. Now nothing is further from the truth. Instead of sitting in their offices the members of the board are "up and at it" every minute of the day, and their duties often make it necessary for them to work late into the night.

On a recent visit to this city Commissioner Wood made the statement that he had seen his family only once in 28 days during a trying period, and last night Commissioner Bump informed the writer that he has been home only once or twice in the last ten days. During the past few weeks both members have been hearing arbitration and conciliation cases and their work in bringing about satisfactory adjustments has been very successful. The board has no compulsory powers, as a great many people are led to believe, and the members act simply as mediators. Arbitration cases are nearly always disposed of in short order by the board, but conciliation cases are much harder of solution.

LABOR DELEGATES BACK

MESSRS. WARNOCK, ANDERSON AND ROURKE ATTENDED A. F. OF L. CONVENTION

The local delegates who attended the Massachusetts state branch convention of the American Federation of Labor in New Bedford, returned to Lowell last night and reported that the convention was largely attended and very successful. Delegates from various parts of the state were represented.

Lowell was honored by the election of Secretary Charles E. Anderson as one of the six vice-presidents and President Frank Warnock of the Trades and Labor council was appointed to the grievance committee. Timothy Rourke, a former president of the central labor body was appointed to the committee on the secretary-treasurer's report. Secretary Anderson's new duties will necessitate his attendance at the frequent meetings of the executive board as a testimonial to retiring President Alden, a purse of $100 was subscribed.

While in the whaling town the Lowell contingent met Commissioner Carmichael and Chief Edward F. Saunders of the fire department, who were looking over the apparatus. The drinking water made nearly all of the visiting delegates sick and one or two of the local men had not got over the effects of drinking the water today.

FUNERALS

If you want help at home or in your business, try The Sun "Want" column.

Both Commissioner Wood and Commissioner Bump decided to come to this city yesterday when there was plenty of urgent business to attend to in Boston. Commissioner Bump in conversation with a Sun representative last evening said: "We have work enough on hand at the present time to keep us going for several months. Had the normal number of arbitration and conciliation cases come before our notice during the past few weeks, we should have been unable to handle them. We have been busily engaged during the past few weeks chasing strike troubles and have been successful in smoothing over the existing difficulties in the majority of them. Then we left Boston this noon, we left Commissioner Howland at home to hear two arbitration cases and we put extra work on our shoulders by coming to Lowell. However, we are pleased that we conferred with the officials of the U. S. Cartridge company, and our visit may be the means of bringing about a speedy settlement. When we get back to Boston we will have to go over the evidence in the cases submitted to Commissioner Howland and other important matters which need our immediate attention will have to wait."

SPECIALS CONSPICUOUS

IMPROVEMENT IN SOME OF THE STANDARD RAILWAYS—CLOSING STRONG

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Special stocks were again conspicuous at the opening of today's market, with moderate improvement in some of the standard railways. International nickel recovered two points on yesterday's price at 27 1/2 and Bethlehem Steel American Locomotive, Amn. Woolen and the Maxwell Motor issues were higher by one to two points. U. S. Steel opened at a slight advance but soon reacted to 77 1/2 yesterday final. Railroads also lost initial gains. Early gains were increased and other specialties were brought forward during the first hour, notably Tennessee Copper which rose 4 to 59 1/2. The usual recessions followed, mainly to realize gains, followed, but the decline was halted when a broad buying movement of railway issues set in. Gains of 1 to almost 3 points were registered by the anthracite and soft coal shares, and Southern Pacific responded to yesterday's favorable statement of earnings by advancing to 99.

Towards midday Bethlehem Steel pf. advanced to 120 equalling its record.

Features of the busy mid-session included Bethlehem Steel preferred, which rose to the new high price of 138, Baldwin Locomotive also realizing previous quotations at 94 1/2. Railways were less active and slightly lower.

Impressive buying of high class railway shares gave solidity to the final dealings. The closing was strong.

ALL IN READINESS FOR FORTY-NINTH ENCAMPMENT OF VETERANS OF G. A. R.

UPPER, G. A. R. NAVAL VETERAN; LOWER, MEETING OF G. A. R. VETERANS

Final arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the Grand Army veterans at their forty-ninth annual encampment, in Washington, during the week of Sept. 27 have now been completed. To correct any impression which might be gained by the association of ideas, it should be stated that the encampment is not to be a tented affair. The reunion will be held under canvas, as has been the case with these affairs in many cities. Instead the Washington citizens' committee has provided for the use of the veterans a building adequately adapted for the purposes of the encampment and having, with the exception of the capitol itself, the largest ground floor space of any structure in the city. The building is the one in which the last census was compiled and stands of First street, adjoining the capitol plaza. The main floor is divided into two mammoth auditoriums, in one of which the big reception on Tuesday night and the regular business session of the encampment will be held. The other has been set aside for campfires and the dog watch of the naval veterans. On the floor above there is a row of twenty or more rooms wherein the various corps and departments will have their individual headquarters throughout the reunion. A feature of the arrangements never heretofore provided will be a branch postoffice established in the encampment building, to which will be assigned by the postmaster of Washington a force of clerks who will handle all incoming and outgoing mail for the veterans, and all correspondence intended for the visitors should be addressed to the encampment headquarters. Rest room, restaurant, hospital and other appointments and equipments necessary for the comfort and convenience of the old soldiers have been installed in the building.

GRAND CIRCUIT

"Pop" Geers, Veteran Driver, Loses in Hot Six-Heat Duel

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 25.—The veteran driver, "Pop" Geers, lost the hardest fought race in which he has participated this season yesterday. He was beaten by Murphy in the 2.09 trot, the feature of what was to have been the closing program of the first week of the Grand Circuit meeting here. He drove the favorite, St. Frisco, but the fast and game 4-year-old was beaten by Mirfulful. It took six heats of the hardest kind of racing before the latter could turn the trick.

St. Frisco had shown so well of late that he was hailed favorite for the 2.09 trot, selling for $100 against $30 for the field. The first heat went to Vaster, a Canadian gelding, who won in the largest field of the season on Monday. Mirfulful trotted the greatest mile of her life in the second heat, beating the field in 2.06 1/4. Geers riding rather easily, took advantage of a break by Mirfulful and landed St. Frisco an easy winner, but in the fourth he had to drive the colt desperately to stall off Mirfulful and Laramie Lad.

Mirfulful took the lead at the start of the fifth and held it all the way. In the sixth heat Geers' record Murphy's mare over to the half in 1.33, but St. Frisco was done at that point and Mirfulful jogged in a winner.

After John D. had won the first heat of the 2.06 pace, Lon McDonald went to the front with the favorite, Rustus, landing him in the front in the next three rounds. In the second and third heats, John D. was second and the judges decided that Osborn was not using his best efforts. He was "derelicted" and an Indiana half mile track teamster, Rhodes, was substituted. John D. finished a lonesome fourth, which made it look as if the job put an end to the 2.18 pace, three horses had a heat each. Budd Elliott, piloted by Geers, took advantage of a wreck on the first turn in the first heat and won easily. Miss Rejected fell while the sulky of Neil Mike was smashed.

Yeats, driver of Miss Rejected, was so badly injured that he was taken to a hospital.

Thistle Patch was best in the second heat, taking a record of 2.06 1/4. His first winning heat in two seasons' racing. Red Mike, outpacing the field, took the lead in the third heat, the race then being postponed. Two special races have been arranged to fill out the program for today. The summary:

WILLIAMS QUILTS THE ARABIC CASE

County Commissioner Who Was Renominated Withdraws

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 25.—Middlesex County Commissioner Chester B. Williams of Wayland, who won a three cornered fight for the republican nomination at the state primaries on Tuesday, took the unusual action today of withdrawing his name as the party candidate in the November election. In making his withdrawal, Mr. Williams expressed the opinion that the primary was a failure and claimed that it robbed the voters of the power of making nominations, as compared with the old system of nomination by convention. Under the law, Mr. Williams' place on the ballot will be filled at a convention of the republican city and town committees of the county.

In the primary, Mr. Williams defeated John L. Dyer of Cambridge by 8000 votes and Harry A. Penniman of Cambridge by 12,000.

ORGANIZER IS ARRESTED

JOS. H. GILMOUR REFUSED TO MOVE FROM IN FRONT OF STRIKE PLANT

PAWBUCKET, R. I., Sept. 25.—Organizer Joseph H. Gilmour of the International machinists association was arrested today when he refused to move from in front of Potter & Johnson's machine shop, where a strike has been in progress for six weeks. Of 900 men, employed at the works, 650 are out while 250 remain at work. Mr. Gilmour intended to address the latter from an automobile when the police came along and ordered him to move on. On his refusal to leave the district he was placed under arrest and afterwards allowed to go on his own recognizance to appear in court on Wednesday. Although many of the strikers were in the neighborhood, there was no disturbance.

SCHOOL BOARD NURSES

Dr. Lambert Explains Why Two Non-Residents Were Hired and Residents Ignored

The following statement has been made by the school committee concerning school nurses:

During the last few days numerous requests have been made by representatives of the newspapers and by various other persons, over the telephone and otherwise, for information concerning the appointment of school nurses by the school committee, the appointments having been made at the regular meeting of the school committee on Aug. 31, 1915.

Inasmuch as the employment of school nurses had been considered by the school committee for several months and great care had been exercised in making selection of persons to do the work and in inaugurating in a thorough manner so important a department of school activities, the school committee feel that a brief statement may be made for the purpose of correcting the erroneous impressions which may exist but for which the school committee in no way feel responsible.

At the meeting of July 2, 1915, the committee had two nurses, professionally trained, employed in the schools, under the supervision of the paid head of the Lowell Guild, but subject to the authority of and responsible to the school committee; at the meeting on Aug. 31, 1915, the committee decided to employ two more school nurses, the matter of school nurses under consideration. It is of course necessary for me to say that the school committee would not wish even to appear to slight or evade the legal requirements in such a matter, and they will be glad to receive your approval of the appointments, if such approval can or should be given, or in any event, to conform strictly with whatever you decide to be the legal requirements in the case."

Signed,
John H. Lambert, M. D.
For the School Committee of the City of Lowell.

SOUTH ENDS IN LEAD

BOYS FROM THE COMMON SCORED FIVE RUNS IN THE THIRD INNING

The chilly blasts of September might be of sufficient frigidity to deter some fans from attending a ball game at this late date, but not the fans who follow the fortunes of the local semi-pro teams for it was a case of where the bleachers had it all over the grandstand for comfort. There was a large and lively crowd today at the game between the South Ends and Lawrence Mfg. Co., the opening game in a series to be played at Spaulding park.

For the past week there has been much discussion among the fans as to the relative merits of the two teams and considerable money had been wagered on the result. The doers figured that the South Ends had the best fielding team but allowed that the Lawrence Mfg. Co. had the best batting team.

The crowd when it finally got into the park was one of the largest that attended a game this season. The street sidewalks were crowded with a big throng was overwhelming the ticket sellers after the game had begun. Both bleachers and the grandstand were filled. The South Ends presented their same old lineup with Devlin on the mound. Eddie Cawley, the crack third baseman of the Lawrence company, was missing from the lineup because of the fact that today he was playing left end for Colby college against Harvard in the more strenuous game of football.

Billy McPherson, a Lowell boy, formerly of the New England league, was in a Lawrence uniform while Steve Breen the high school player was on third base for the Lawrence team. Umpire Keeler officiated.

The lineup:

Lawrence
Dion, 1b
Allen, 2b
S. Breen, 3b
McPherson, ss
C. Marcotte, lf
Abrams, p
Gray, rf
Riley, cf
Moylhan, c

First Inning

The South Ends went to bat. Lyons with three and two on him offered at a bad one and was out. Jenkins, the batting hero of last week, hit the ball to the left field fence and tried to make a two bagger out of it but Marcotte threw him out.

The bostery boys didn't get the ball out of the infield. T. Breen scooped up Dion's grounder and threw him out. Allen bunted to Devlin and died at first. S. Breen hit to O'Dea and was out at first.

Score: South Ends 0, Lawrence Mfg. Co. 0.

Second Inning

McGreevey went out on a line drive to McPherson. Gallagher struck out. Edwards got hit by a pitched ball but trying to steal second Moylhan nailed him with a pretty peg.

In Lawrence's half, McPherson hit a slow grounder to Breen, who doubled him up at first. Marcotte hit the ball down the first base line. Belleville doubled the ball over to O'Dea, who quickly passed it back to the first baseman and the man was out. Abrams struck out.

Score: South Ends 0, Lawrence 0.

Third Inning

The South Ends started to clean up their opponents in the third, and ten men went to bat, five of whom scored. Belleville, Lyons, T. Breen and McGreevey all made safe hits, while Jenkins and Gallagher got bases on balls.

STATE BOARD'S PLAN TO SETTLE STRIKE

The strike of the United States Cartridge Co. is still unsettled but it may be settled before Monday noon.

The strike leaders, it seems, want to make the works of the Cartridge Co. union go and to this the company will not agree on any condition. According to the statement of Capt. Doe, general manager of the company, the state board has used its influence to bring about an agreement on the disputed points and has made considerable progress. So far as can be ascertained, were the question of union labor eliminated the settlement of the other points at issue would be an easy matter. The company has granted an eight hour day and other concessions but has not yet satisfied the strikers' leaders to the extent of inducing the employees to return to work.

The state board has put this proposition up to Capt. Doe: That the strikers return to work pending an investigation and a recommendation by the state board providing that the company shall agree to abide by the decision of the board on the points at issue with the exception of making the plant a union shop. The company is not willing to submit that question to arbitration.

Capt. Doe and the other officials of the company are seriously considering this proposition and will probably accept it providing it is also accepted and agreed to by the strikers. This would, perhaps, be the easiest and best way of disposing of the difficulty without further delay or loss of time and it is to be hoped that both sides will adopt it should this mode of settling the dispute be accepted by the state board. The board has the right to do this, it deserves the praise of this community for bringing about an agreement on issues that threatened serious industrial disturbance.

Machinists Hold Out

At a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the machinists employed by the company, held last night in Cotton Spinners' hall, Middle street, it was voted that the committee in charge of the recent demands submitted the company to the following: a 25 per cent. increase in wages and an agreement including a clause to provide for arbitration in case of further differences. The company has agreed to an eight-hour day and increased wages.

Strikers Paid Off

All employees of the U. S. Cartridge

Co., who are out on strike and who had wages due them for the week ending Sept. 18th were paid off at the Lawrence street plant today. More than 2000 of the strikers received their pay envelopes containing the past money owed them by the company during the morning hours and before the afternoon was out the total number received what was due them. The work of paying off the large crowd was by no means easy and a number of regular patrolmen assisted the company's special force in maintaining order. The first to receive their money were the employees of the machine and tool departments. They received their wages at 8.30 o'clock, and from this time on the paymaster assisted by a force of clerks handed out pay envelopes to employees of all departments until all were attended to.

Strike Headquarters

Nothing of importance developed at the headquarters of the strikers in Trades & Labor hall during the morning hours. Organizer Frank H. McCarthy who left the city for his home in Boston had not returned until noon. The members of the strike committee were very busy, however, receiving membership dues from the strikers who had returned from the Lawrence street plant where they received their back wages, and handling out much necessary information to pickets and others.

Executive Session Held

The first executive session of the Lowell Cartridge Workers' union was held this afternoon in Associate hall at 2.30 o'clock. All but members of the union in good standing were excused and in order to get into the hall one had to present the white card of membership. There were over 1000 strikers in attendance when Organizer Frank H. McCarthy called to order. Addresses were made by Mr. McCarthy and President Warnock, of the Trades and Labor council. The former urged united action and said if the Cartridge company would open their gates McCarthy would lead them back until a settlement is made with their representatives.

Previous to the meeting a number of strikers received their white cards upon payment of their initiation fees and they were admitted to the hall.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD

DIED ALONE IN CENTRAL STREET BOARDING HOUSE—HAD BEEN ILL

A woman named Gertrude Clark was found dead in bed in her lodging house, 323 Central street this afternoon after a search as to her whereabouts had been instituted by her landlady who had not seen her around the house since yesterday morning. The door to the woman's bedroom was locked, and entrance was gained through a window. A little over a week ago the woman complained of feeling ill and since that time she had been confined to her room. She was 33 years old and was formerly employed as an operative in the Massachusetts mill. Medical Examiner Meligs was called and viewed the body.

MEXICANS RAID TEXAS MONEY MAKING DOG DEAD

U. S. Private Killed, Captain Wounded—U.S. Troops to Cross the Rio Grande

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Possibility that American troops might cross the Rio Grande to deal with Mexicans raiding border counties in Texas was talked of here today as a result of yesterday's border fight between United States soldiers and Mexicans near Progresso, Texas. One American soldier was killed and an officer wounded in the battle. At least four Mexicans, perhaps more, were shot down. It was reported that the soldier was Priv. Henry W. Stubblefield of Big Stone Gap, Va., and the officer Captain A. V. Anderson.

Carranza Soldiers
An incident that added to the seriousness of the situation in the eyes of war department officials was the fact, as reported by General Funston, that several hundred uniformed Mexicans on the southern border covered the retreating raiders. One report said that American army officers described some of the raiders as Carranza soldiers.

As viewed here, the incident is regarded as one of the most serious of the numerous disturbances along the border. Secretary of War Garrison was out of the city today, but a detailed report on the affair from General Funston has been telegraphed to him. General Funston, however, has full authority to take whatever measures are necessary to deal with any situation that may arise.

General Funston's report was to be laid before the state department today by the war department, with a view to representations to Carranza, whose troops occupy the territory opposite Progresso.

ALL RAIDERS ESCAPE

Another Critical Turn in Turbulent Relations of Americans and Mexicans

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Sept. 25.—Another critical turn in the turbulent relations of Americans and Mexicans on the lower Texas border was evident today as the result of yesterday's raid by Mexicans on the village of Progresso and the casualties sustained by an American army detachment which finally routed the invaders.

All of the Mexicans, probably 50 in number, were said today to have escaped in the night, but strong army patrols occupied every foot of the Rio Grande bank to prevent repetition of the raid.

In the interior peace officers and citizens renewed precautions to protect isolated settlements and ranches.

The escape of the Mexican raiders was regarded as one of the gravest features of yesterday's battle. When the American soldiers pursued the raiders to the river bank, it was reported by Mayor Edward Anderson of Progresso that they were met by a brisk fire from the Mexican side where apparently several hundred Mexicans were concealed. It also was reported that a number of the raiders wore khaki uniforms but whether they were connected with the Carranza garrison which hold the various border towns of Progresso and Brownsville, could not be learned.

Capt. A. V. P. Anderson of the 12th cavalry and Priv. Cecil W. Kennedy, who were wounded yesterday, were reported today to be in no danger. The body of Private Henry W. Stubblefield, who was killed by the Mexicans, is being held for relatives.

WAGON HIT AUTOMOBILE

COLLISION ON MOODY STREET—WAGON SMASHED BUT NOBODY INJURED

Mr. Marion of Rosemont terrace, an aged man, narrowly escaped serious injury late yesterday afternoon, when his wagon crashed into an automobile at the junction of Moody and Pawtucket streets. The automobile was not damaged but the wagon was badly smashed.

Mr. Marion was driving his horse up Moody street at about 5 o'clock. The horse was galloping up the hill and when a spot was reached near the junction of Pawtucket street, the wagon collided with an automobile which had been left standing near the curbstone. Mr. Marion was thrown forcibly to the ground, but fortunately was not injured. One of the front wheels of the wagon was smashed, while the shafts were broken. The harness was also damaged. The horse freed itself from the wagon and started across the Moody street bridge at full speed, but was brought to a stop before any other damage was caused.

15 CENT SHAVES IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Starting today all Boston barber shops will tax you 15 cents for a "twice over" shave. Heretofore 10 cents was the price but the extra fifty is due to the war, the proprietors say.

U. S. Cartridge Co. Toward the Striking Employees

The attitude of the U. S. Cartridge Co. toward the striking employees is practically the same as when the trouble started, according to a statement issued yesterday by Capt. Doe.

President James J. Donnelly of the Leather Workers' union and Timothy Burke, formerly president of the Trades and Labor council did some sight-seeing in the whaling town while attending the state convention.

Meetings of the U. S. Cartridge strikers will hereafter be held behind closed doors. This was decided upon at the mass meeting yesterday morning. The charter of the new organization is expected to arrive the first of next week.

Mullin's union, local 1483, held a short business session in Carpenter's hall last evening. Business of minor importance was transacted and a number of committee reports were favorably acted upon.

Bricklayers' union held its regular weekly business meeting last night in the union quarters, Middle street, with President F. J. Warren in the chair. A list of routine business was transacted after which several interesting trade topics were discussed.

Organizer Thomas F. McMahon left this afternoon for Bridgeport where he is to assume the leadership of several hundred members of the United Textile Workers' union who are out on strike. He will probably return to this city again next Wednesday.

General Executive Board Member Robert Fechner of the International Association of Machinists, who spoke before the Elliptical machinists Thursday night will probably take charge

Dewey, Canine King of Finance, Killed by Auto—Leaves Bank Account—Owner Mourns

"Dewey," the canine king of finance, is dead. He was killed by an automobile in Moody street, last night while gnawing a bone. He was a fox-terrier, ten years old, the property of Mrs. Anna Perron, who keeps a confectionery store near Moody and Hanover streets. The tragedy, and tragedy it is to Mrs. Perron, occurred directly opposite her store door. She was in tears this forenoon when The Sun man called to talk with her about her poor Dewey, the dog with the instincts of a money king.

But it wasn't his ability as a money getter that endeared Dewey to his mistress. She loved him for his loyalty and devotion. He was intelligent and home loving and was ever at her beck and call and always willing and pleased to do her bidding.

It has been said that in literature the dog has appeared more often than any other animal, except perhaps the horse. Sometimes he is really praised, and at others greatly abused. Sometimes he is made the type of what is mean, low, and contemptible; while at others he is described in terms of eulogy. Few men will forget the song of their childhood, which runs:

"Old dog Tray's ever faithful;
Grief cannot drive him away;
He is gentle, he is kind;
I'll never, never find
A better friend than old dog Tray."

Nor can any of us fail to remember the intelligent animal on whose behalf "Old Mother Hubbard" went to the cupboard.

Few men have deserved, and few have won higher praise in an epitaph than that written by Lord Byron in regard to his dead Newfoundland, and we cannot forget either that Senator Vest put the friendship and loyalty of the dog above these same qualities in man.

Lord Byron poured out his love for his dog in the epitaph and Senator Vest eulogized the dog in public, but Mrs. Perron will not write her grief in epitaph and she will not sing the praises of her dead pet in public, but down deep in her heart is a sorrow as great as Lord Byron or any other dog owner ever felt upon the occasion of their dumb friend being despatched to the happy hunting ground.

While Mrs. Perron's grief is exceptionally keen she is not the only one who mourns the loss of "Dewey." Mr. Perron was also greatly attached to the dog, but it is not man's fortune to be able to vent his grief in tears. The children in the neighborhood, too, were very fond of "Dewey" for to know him was to love him.

His Financial Instincts
It was his financial instincts, however, that won "Dewey" his widespread popularity and he was probably the only dog ever to die in Lowell with a bank account to his credit. The pennies collected by him were put in "Dewey's" bank by Mrs. Perron and in one year he collected $2.64. Mrs. Perron showed the writer the bank this morning and there must have been more than 200 pennies in it.

The reader, of course, will be interested in the dog's modus operandi as a king of finance and according to the stories told in Moody street, John D. didn't have very much on Dewey. His process was a simple one. His first act was to sit down and put up a howl so pitiful that the stranger would immediately ask what the noise was all about. A dozen children or more would immediately inform the stranger that Dewey was begging for a penny and, with his natural sympathy thoroughly excited, the stranger would hand out the penny. Then Dewey would away to his mistress with the coin, but not to hand it to her right away. Dewey had to receive candy for the penny and he was from Missouri. He had to see the candy and have it in his possession before he would pay for it, and though having received candy for it the penny was deposited in his bank, an arrangement by which Dewey's interests were properly protected as it was not possible for him to lose. Let it be said to his everlasting credit, however, that he would not accept candy without pay. If he didn't have the penny with which to buy the candy he wouldn't accept the sweet.

Dewey's knowledge of money was not confined to pennies. He could tell good bills from bad bills and proved it on various occasions. Once a good bill was thrown on the floor with a lot of stage money and Dewey's unerring financial scent ferreted out the good bill which he carried to his mistress with a look that said plainer than words "I know what I have got."

Dewey had a fund of tricks but the most practical was that in which he proved himself a financier. The man whose automobile killed Dewey gave his name and license to Mrs. Perron, but the fact that the dog was in the middle of the street will probably relieve the automobile man of all responsibility.

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

Patrick Fells, who attended the Rochester conference of Street Railway Men as a delegate from Division 280 of this city has returned home.

Manager Walter Lyons of the South End baseball team will play basketball this winter with the Y. M. C. A. team. "Wally" was a member of the Beavers team last year.

Electrical Workers' union held its regular meeting in the union rooms, Fiske building, last night but only routine business was transacted. President Hall presided.

The attitude of the U. S. Cartridge Co. toward the striking employees is practically the same as when the trouble started, according to a statement issued yesterday by Capt. Doe.

General Executive Board Member Robert Fechner of the International Association of Machinists, who spoke before the Elliptical machinists Thursday night will probably take charge of the machinists' troubles in Bridgeport. He left Lowell for the Connecticut city yesterday morning.

Commissioners Wood and Bump of the state board of arbitration and conciliation who came to this city Thursday in an attempt to patch up the difficulties between the strikers and the company left for other fields yesterday afternoon. They are expected to return to Lowell on Monday.

The local delegates who attended the Massachusetts state branch convention of the American Federation of Labor held in New Bedford this week came home with no good impressions of the whaling town. One of the delegates said the coast city would make a good back yard for the city of Lowell.

Michael Wrenn, the athletic member of the U. S. Cartridge Co.'s special force, will endeavor to smash one or two sprint records next summer. While practicing in a local tank recently he equalled the record for 30 yards and went better than the record for 50 yards. Neither of his splendid attempts were officially timed and as a result no record marks can be credited to him.

John J. Downing, president of the Stationary Firemen's union showed up at Trades and Labor hall last night for the first time since his return from New Bedford where he represented the local organization at the state convention. Mr. Downing asked the writer to spare his feelings and not talk about the convention town with its exhilarating drinking water. Mr. Downing has been on the sick list since his return as a result of drinking the water in the convention city.

The boys tried to kid Conductor Canby by throwing a brick into his car but without success. The car was scheduled to run as far as Canby's corner only, and that's just about as far as it went. Threats of stealing the controller, suspension from duty and expulsion from the union were tried by the boys but all to no avail and they were left to hike a distance of about a mile to the trolley which was switched around and the car started towards Lowell. Maybe the young fellows didn't clear the street railway men though.

Hide & Leather Company
The American Hide & Leather Co. has had a most satisfactory quarter during the three months ending Sept. 30. The September period is the first quarter of the new fiscal year and it is very easy to point the directors to the course of gaining during the entire 12 months. The company's gross sales for the last three months have been at an annual rate of slightly better than $20,000,000, which is an improvement of some 5 per cent over the volume of sales during the 1915 year and $2,500,000 larger than in 1914. During the 1915 fiscal session the company has reduced its bonded debt by $352,000.

GILBRIDE CO.'S OPENING

GREAT ATTRACTIONS IN MILLINERY AND OTHER DEPTS. AT THIS POPULAR STORE

The Gilbride Department store, and otherwise known as the business corner, yesterday was the scene of a happy throng of ladies who were out on dress parade attending one of the largest millinery openings in our city as well as the most attractive. Here could be seen some of the most beautiful creations of the millinery art. Judging from the way the salesladies were receiving orders it certainly looked as though there would be no trouble with business this season. We will not go into any special description of any hat or bonnet but will be content by suggesting that the ladies look at their beautiful window display and they will see something perhaps much better than they have ever seen before. Not only the windows but the show cases and forms are beautiful. The store never looked more attractive for its elegance in appearance and its high grade of merchandise. The suit and cloak department on the second floor is certainly a place where the most fastidious persons would be able to get what they want in suit, gown, or coat, and judging from the prices on the tickets it might easily be called the bargain store.

The basement is fully stocked with everything in the domestic line and this place was thoroughly inspected by the throng of people that filled the store. The company's display windows this year are a masterpiece and show more attractiveness than ever. The design, particularly the back ground, being black and white with an endless display of scroll work which gives a beautiful effect, new in this part of the country, and with the millinery display of pattern hats in the window as well as suits and dresses make a very rich and attractive exhibit.

The manager Mr. John J. Burns has shown wonderful ability in getting up such an elegant fall and winter opening. This exhibit will continue throughout the day.

BON MARCHE OPENING

FORMER EFFORTS OF THIS EMPORIUM OUTDONE IN WINDOW DISPLAYS AND ATTRACTIONS

Yesterday was gala day at this popular department store and with a page announcement in The Sun it attracted thousands of ladies to this great emporium of style and fashion. The Bon Marche has had many beautiful openings in the past but its record for outdoing all previous efforts was shown in yesterday's display, both in the windows and the interior. The millinery window in particular was a marvel of beauty both in millinery and artistic decoration. The upper millinery window nearest Kirk street was most attractively adorned, and the display of pattern hats and other shapes, most beautifully trimmed, attracted everybody's attention. The other mammoth window at the right of the entrance, which is decked in designs from autumn leaves and flowers, is even more beautiful, both in trimming and display of millinery ornaments used in the art. Passing to the next window we find suits, dresses, shirt waists, fur goods and everything in outside garments, and a person might feel proud to be able to wear any of these beautifully made garments. The dress goods window is certainly a very beautiful exhibit and

MATRIMONIAL

A pretty marriage took place Wednesday evening when William J. White and Miss Bridget Cecilia Flaherty were united in wedlock, the ceremony being performed at St. John's church, North Chelmsford, by the pastor, Rev. Edmund J. Schofield. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary M. Flaherty, while the best man was Mr. James Reagan of Somerville. The bride was attired in white duchess satin, trimmed with white allover Arabian lace. The bridesmaid wore a princess dress of Alsatian blue crepe du chesne. Both wore bridal caps of white Irish lace. The bride carried lilies of the valley, while the bridesmaid carried azaleas. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a gold locket, and to the bridesmaid a gold cross set with emeralds. The best man received a gold chain. Previous to the ceremony a luncheon was served at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. J. P. Connolly, 108 Agawam street. At the close of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the couple, 171 Smith street, where a supper was served, about 200 guests being present from Keene, N. H., Somerville, Woburn, Lawrence and Winchester. Mr. and Mrs. White received numerous gifts. They left in the evening on a wedding tour to New York, Chicago and Milwaukee. They will be at home to their friends at 171 Smith street after Nov. 1st.

NURSES PROTEST

They Express Indignation at the Action of School Board

About 50 local nurses met at the Y. W. C. A. rooms in John street late yesterday afternoon for the purpose of entering a protest against the recent action of the school board in appointing two out-of-town nurses for school work. The meeting was one of indignation and many of the present expressed themselves in emphatic terms, condemning the action of the school committee and the board of education, and pointing to confer with the board in an endeavor to have them rescind their action and consider local nurses for the positions.

The meeting was opened by Miss Anna Nash, president of St. John's Hospital Nurses' association, who was unanimously chosen to preside over the meeting. Miss Nash in opening said: "The appointment recently of two nurses by the school board calls for action on our part. We must protest and ask that the board receive our protest and listen to us. We want protection in our work, and our associations may grow to that importance to merit the confidence of the public."

"Such action, calling in and appointing nurses from outside places, while local nurses waited and expected favorable consideration, must be seriously taken up by the board and first duty demands the appointment of a committee to confer with the school board on the matter."

Miss Nash then spoke of the training given the nurses at the local hospitals and she said such action as calling in outside nurses was unjustified. She informed the gathering that nurses who have called on Miss Holland of the Lowell gulf were told that they would have to go to Boston and take the special course for school work. She said that she knows two nurses who are heavy taxpayers, and who applied to Miss Holland, and were told to take the special training. Miss Nash also made the statement that it was at the request of taxpayers that the meeting of indignation was held and she closed by saying: "We should vote the school board out and vote a new board in."

Mrs. D. D. Holland, a member of the Nurses' Alumnae association, said that as she understood it, there is special training required for school work. She said there is a great deal of social work connected with it, that requires special preparation and she states the position calls for a civil service examination, as there is a state law applying to school and district nurses.

Several of those present warmly opposed the need of special training for school work. There was expression of opinion from some of the nurses, to the effect, that, if special training is required and Lowell nurses work, they should be willing to qualify. The following were appointed on a committee to wait upon the school board and state their position in the matter and the meeting adjourned.

Miss Anna Nash, St. John's hospital; Mrs. B. C. Stewart, Lowell general; Miss J. G. Hennessy, Lowell hospital; and Miss Eva Lander, state infirmary at Tewksbury.

900 HORSES LOST

Horseship Sunk by German Submarine—Was Chased 78 Miles

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The British horse ship Anglo-Columbian was torpedoed and sunk yesterday off Fastnet after being chased 78 miles by a submarine, according to a message from Consul Frost at Queenstown. The message said warning was given and time allowed for the crew, six of whom were Americans, to take to the boats. There were no casualties. The ship was bound from Montreal to Liverpool.

The Anglo-Columbian left Montreal on Sept. 11. She carried a cargo of 900 remounts for the British government.

His lung was punctured and three ribs fractured. Chief Tracy was taken to the central fire station, treated by two physicians and then removed to the Choate Memorial hospital.

AUTOS IN COLLISION

MRS. SCHIFFMACHER, SERIOUSLY INJURED WHEN LARGE TOURING CAR SKIDDED

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Mrs. M. Schiffmacher, wife of President Schiffmacher of the Olmstead-Plant company of Boston, was seriously hurt early last evening when a large touring car, owned and driven by James J. Brooks of 39 Sewall street, Somerville, skidded and drove head-on into the machine in which Mr. and Mrs. Schiffmacher were riding.

The accident took place on the Spot Pond road in the Middlesex fells, which had just been wet down by a light shower.

Mrs. Schiffmacher was cut about the head and there was a large gash under her right eye. She was taken to Medford for medical attention and then removed to her home.

The front of the Schiffmacher car was considerably smashed up, but Mr. Brooks, who was accompanied by four women, was able to drive off in his car in spite of a "lane" wheel.

WAS MURDERED

Patrick Cannon's Head Split Open—Body Was Found in Barn

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—In an unused barn 50 yards from the nearest house, and an equal distance from Elliot street, Newton Highlands, yesterday, two boys, climbing to the second floor, found stretched out dead on a dirty mattress, his face covered with blood, Patrick Cannon, 30, who has for years lived about the Highlands.

Indications are that the man was murdered. He had been dead, evidently, about two days. On the floor beside the mattress were two whisky bottles, one of them broken, and a broken knife. In the man's pockets were an empty pocketbook, and a pay envelope marked "J. Patrick," from which the money had been taken.

Death is believed to have been caused by a fracture of the skull, for the top of the man's head was split open by some blunt instrument, and there were two bad cuts on the right side of his face.

The boys who found him are Frank Gumerzo, 16, of 22 Columbia avenue, and Charles Hurd, 18, of 22 Thurston road. The barn is located in the middle of vacant lot off Elliot street, and about 50 yards from the home of Francis Proctor, at 45 Elliot street.

It is believed that Cannon, whose relatives say that he had no home, had been living in the barn for several weeks. Identification of the man was made about 8 o'clock last evening by two nephews, William Cannon, 13, of 53 Buckle street, and Joseph Cannon, of 4 Cannon street.

So far as the police can discover, the last person to see Cannon alive was Dr. C. Arthur Thompson of 1909 Walnut street, Newton Highlands, who paid him $8 Monday for some work he had done, and asked him to come to his house again toward the latter part of this week.

SHOT WIFE AND SELF

MRS. DUBEY SERIOUSLY HURT—HUSBAND DEAD—ROCKY POINT SCENE OF TRAGEDY

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 25.—John Dube, 48, of Haverhill, fired two shots at his wife yesterday in one of the concession stands at Rocky Point, one bullet striking her in the head and the other in the right shoulder.

He then turned the revolver upon himself and fired it. He was killed almost instantly. The woman was taken to the Rhode Island hospital, where her condition was pronounced critical.

The police have been endeavoring to find a motive for Dube's act. So far as they can learn, the man was despondent through being out of work for a long time, and was also offended because his wife refused to give him money with which to pay a debt he had contracted in Haverhill. They have been running a concession at Rocky Point this season.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The Italian steamship Taormina brought in yesterday from Genoa men and women of many nationalities, and some had things to say. Prof. Nedezo Simotomai of the University of Sapor, Japan, spent three years in Berlin and later in the Naples university. His specialties are geography and volcanoes. He said a war between the United States and Japan was geographically impossible, and that American civilization was Japan's model and not Teutonic Kultur.

Nicola Nanelli, Italian by birth and South American by choice, a nitrate king worth about $20,000,000, is on his way to Lima with his wife and little son and daughter. He intimated that he thought he had enough money and would lay off for a while.

EIGHT MEN SHOT

Street Fight in Akron, Ohio—Two Men Arrested After Struggle

AKRON, O., Sept. 25.—Eight men were shot, one seriously, in a street fight early today. Two men have been arrested. John Justice, aged 45, has a bullet in his head and has lost one eye. He is in a hospital. Those under arrest are Paul Harkins, 13, a rubber worker, who is charged with shooting with intent to kill, and Harry Douglas, held for carrying concealed weapons. Douglas is also wounded. Harkins was captured by a squad of police who fought their way into the basement of a house near the scene of the fighting, where Harkins had barricaded himself with a shotgun. Those shot, in addition to Justice and Douglas are: Lawrence Conklin, William H. Haskin, Clarence Rutan, Jefferson Root, Charles Root and Charles Adams. Police claim that Harkins, Douglas and Lester Justice, a son of John Justice, engaged in an argument in the street which led to a fight, attracted the other men and was followed by shooting on the part of Harkins who, the officers say, fired twice into the crowd. Several men fell and Harkins fled.

CARDINAL GOTTLI ILL

FAINTED AND FELL IN HIS OFFICE STRIKING HIS HEAD VIOLENTLY ON THE FLOOR

ROME, via Paris, Sept. 25, 11.10 p.m.—Cardinal Jerome Mary Gottli, prefect of the propaganda, fainted and fell in his office today, striking his head violently on the floor, says the Idea Nazionale.

He suffered a slight concussion of the brain and his condition was considered grave because of his age—61 years.

Cardinal Gottli was appointed to the cardinalate in 1905. The office he holds is one of the most influential in the Catholic church. All strictly missionary lands are under the propaganda.

JITNEY LICENSE CASES

WILL GO TO SUPREME COURT TO DETERMINE LEGALITY OF ORDINANCE

Whether or not the municipal ordinance relative to the operation of jitney buses within the limits of this city is unconstitutional is a question for the supreme court to decide, ruled Judge Enright in police court this forenoon when Joseph C. Scribner and Jacob P. Forays were arraigned on continuance, charged technically with operating motor buses for the purpose of carrying passengers without licenses from the license commission. His Honor, after being informed that the cases would go to the high court, made a formal finding of guilty and imposed a fine of $20 in each case.

When the cases were tried last Saturday, Judge Enright ruled that the ordinance was unconstitutional, but that the ordinance was not.

After considering the matter for a week, Judge Enright said: "I find after careful study of this case that it is a question of whether or not this statute is constitutional. One of the conditions is that bonds must be furnished by an insurance company duly authorized under the laws of Massachusetts. It has been brought out here that insurance companies refuse to grant the insurance, thereby prohibiting the business. A question arises there as to whether the ordinance is constitutional but that is not for me to decide."

The jitney operators drove to court in their machines and a few minutes after the finding was made, were seen doing business between Merrimack square and Cornhill street.

THE BOARD OF TRADE

There will be something doing at the board of trade for the first few days of next week. On Monday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock a meeting of the executive committee will be held, while Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock a hearing will be conducted on the proposed sidewalk fare all over the Bay State Street Railway Co.'s system. The public is cordially invited to attend this hearing, particularly those who would have something to say pro or con on the proposition. On Wednesday forenoon an adjourned meeting of the merchants of this city will be held at the same place for the purpose of completing arrangements for "Fashion Week," and also incidentally to take action on either opening or closing the stores Thursday afternoons during October.

GILLEY GETS LICENSE

As a special meeting of the license commission this forenoon a first class liquor license was granted to John J. Gilley, as a common victualler, at 123 Fayette street. This license was formerly held by Clarence P. Cunningham at the same address and is the last of the 100 granted by the commission. About six months ago, Mr. Cunningham died a sudden death in a runaway and it was for the purpose of straightening out the bankruptcy proceedings that the license was not granted in May.

BODY NOT IDENTIFIED MERK ST. MERCHANTS

SOME DOUBT AS TO THE IDENTITY OF SUICIDE SAID TO BE ARTHUR BELANGER

The body of the man who committed suicide by jumping into the Suffolk canal a few days ago, still lies unidentified at the morgue of Undertaker Joseph Albert in Alken street. The body was brought there shortly after the fatal jump and the following day a woman who viewed it said she believed it was that of Arthur Belanger of Manchester, N. H.

The Manchester police were notified and all efforts on their part to locate relatives of the dead man were fruitless. There is nothing certain about the man who was Arthur Belanger, for the woman who identified said she saw the man but once, and the features of the dead man greatly resembled those of Belanger. Undertaker Albert stated today he will bury the body tomorrow unless it is identified before that time.

PLAN FOR BIG CELEBRATION OF WHITE WAY EXTENSION ON MONDAY EVENING, SEPT. 27

The members of the Upper Merrimack Street Business Men's association have completed all arrangements for the fall opening of the district which includes Merrimack street from Colburn to Cabot, the affair to be held Monday evening, Sept. 27, and the public in general is invited to visit the locality, for it will be worth their while to take a stroll in upper Merrimack street next Monday evening.

It will be remembered that the district held a celebration of its own on the occasion of the opening of the white way, and all will also remember that the celebration, unique as it was, proved a very big success. At that time the merchants of the district offered special inducements to purchasers and the following day a thriving business was reported by all interested. The fall opening will also be marked by a special celebration and from the hours of 7.30 and 9.30 the visitors will be given a real musical treat, one of the best brass bands of the city having been hired for the occasion. The band will start playing at the junction of Colburn and Merrimack streets and will work its way down to Cabot, playing at the intersection of streets. Red fire will be burned along the line, while the decorations will be splendid.

Additional clerks will be hired by the various owners for that evening and all the purchasers will be given a cordial reception, while their interests will be looked after in tip top shape. The merchants have agreed to pay car fares to buyers.

The leading factors in the fall opening observance are J. C. Manseau, Thomas J. Fitzgerald and John A. Osgood. These men have solicited funds among the business men to carry the event to a successful end and they have been well received by all. Even the members of House Co. No. 5 have given their financial aid.

ADMIRALS OUSTED

dispositions and issues the orders under which all units of the navy operate. In time of peace it was overshadowed by Admiral Von Tirpitz and the ministry of marine, owing to the dominant personality of Von Tirpitz. Even in the stress of war, Von Tirpitz has been able to exercise considerable influence on the naval policy.

New Chief Big Man of Navy

The new chief, Von Holtzendorff, is one of the big men of the navy. Emperor William gave him command of the high seas fleet at the outset of the dreadnought era, when the advent of the big gun type of battleship made Germany a dangerous rival of Great Britain and until just before the war began when he was succeeded by Admiral Von Ingenhoff, who in turn gave way last spring to Admiral Von Pohl.

A Typical Seaman

The new chief of the naval staff, with his bushy snow white beard, his square, thick set frame and his frank, positive manner, is a typical seaman.

He carries marks of force written all over him—an impression which is heightened by his deliberate but thoroughly frank speech—and enjoys the respect of naval officers generally.

He is, the Associated Press correspondent has good reason to believe, firmly committed to the new line of submarine policy in regard to passenger steamers, and is thoroughly convinced no more of them will be sunk as he considers the measures now being taken adequate to prevent all possibility of accident or error.

Instructions to U-Boat Commanders

Submarine commanders have been instructed not only not to torpedo passenger steamers without warning them, and giving passengers and crew an opportunity to escape, unless the liners attempt to fight or run away when hailed, but also to adopt the safe course when there is doubt as to the intentions of the ships, and not fire a torpedo unless absolutely convinced of a hostile intent.

There have been no developments in the submarine question from the German side since the dispatch to Ambassador Von Tscherning of the instructions under which he now is conducting negotiations at Washington. The Berlin government merely is awaiting information as to the progress of negotiations, believing its ambassador's instructions an ample basis for the settlement of the outstanding questions of submarine warfare unless the United States should choose to introduce new issues. The new orders issued to submarine commanders. It is thought, provide satisfactory regulations for the future regarding liners.

In preparation for the submission of the Arabic case to arbitration under The Hague convention, should the two governments be unable to agree directly, the government already has taken into consideration the evidence regarding the intent of the Arabic's captain in steering on a suspicious course which it is believed that the unanimous opinion of the German government, that the Arabic was acting innocently. Germany will not hesitate to admit that such was the case, with the necessary consequences. Germany probably will offer to submit the question of reparations for American lives lost on the Lusitania as well as on the Arabic to The Hague for adjustment.

German Naval Staff Changes

The recent modification of the German submarine policy, it was indicated increased guarantee of safety of passenger vessels has been followed by a change in the personnel of the German naval staff. Vice Admiral Tauchmann, head of the staff, and rear admiral Dieckhoff, vice chief, who are understood to have been opposed to the modifications, have retired. Admiral Von Holtzendorff, former commander of the German high seas fleet, is the new chief of staff.

THREE DISTINCT RUSSIAN VICTORIES RECORDED ALMOST SIMULTANEOUSLY

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The position of the Russians from Vilna to the Galician frontier appears to have been improved greatly, three distinct victories having been recorded almost simultaneously on the eastern front.

This achievement has mitigated to some extent the uneasiness felt in England as to the attitude of Bulgaria. In the far north the situation is less favorable for Russia. They are re-arming men with characteristic stubbornness but they admit that fighting is proceeding at Smolien, there from Novae Alexandroff, that the approaches to the latter town are in the hands of the Germans and that the fate of Dvinsk is in doubt.

Russians Score Heavily

East of Vilna north of Pinsk and in the vicinity of Lutsk, the Russians have scored heavily.

The Germans characterize their victories east of Vilna—that is at the Vileika railway junction—as of a temporarily advantage notwithstanding their losses of guns and prisoners. Near Pinsk Field Marshal Von Mackensen was thrown back in an engagement that has shaken his grip on the city. Further south the Russians, now holding Lutsk, are pressing their advantage and seem to be assuming the dominance on the southern end of the line in a manner recalling the fighting of last spring. Athens states that mobilization is proceeding today and that thousands of men are being mobilized. It is predicted that within a few days, a majority of the reservists will have joined the colors.

SOME MUNICIPAL PLANS

The war experts tell us that much more active fighting is not to be expected from some of the scenes of war, owing to the unfavorable weather. The snow and ice are coming and the respective sides will dig themselves in to opposing trenches and wait for a more propitious season.

This may be good war tactics but is it good politics when adopted by a municipal body? In local political circles a few months ago we heard plans for great things. We were to have a new high school annex, a contagious hospital, a great street development scheme, a bridge and some other things of like importance. What has become of them all? How far have they been advanced? Can it be that they are dead for a season and that those who fostered them fondly will revive them should fortune send another and a kinder spring?

We are quickly floating into October and winter when nothing very ambitious in the building or developing line is attempted. In a short time, street maintenance and repairs will get down to a routine basis, and larger plans will be laid over. Surely this is not the time to start a new high school, or a hospital, or a bridge, or a street extension. All of the lovely and costly things will have to wait, and it is more than doubtful that some of them will come for many years. Why then did we hear so much about them a few months ago, and why do we hear so little about them today?

The practical politician tells us that there's a reason. He figures it out like this: If you tell the people that you will do six or seven great things, they are going to vote for you again so that you can do them next year. This may be so and again it may not, but it would seem that the plans for so many momentous improvements were merely lured so that after a little puttering and talk about preliminaries, winter would intervene without seeing their accomplishment. It is also a truth of practical politics that sometimes you can get away with talk about improvements but you fall into the mire when you attempt them. Sometimes a bridge in the air, so to speak, is worth two in the blue prints, for when bridges get to the blue print stage some things must be definitely settled.

Some people of a kind and unsuspecting nature may say that there is no political chicanery in the actions of the municipal council. This makes the matter worse. If all of the plans were talked about and voted on with sincerity, there is a lack of ability somewhere. Surely if the men behind the many costly schemes had any idea of business we should see some of them nearer realization.

The city needs a new high school annex; it needed it two years ago and it will need it more than ever next year. The city needs a new bridge at Pawtucketville, but it cannot afford to take the word of any interested engineer from out of town as to the best bridge to have, especially when this is opposed by the warnings of local experts of authority: the city must erect a contagious disease hospital, and the sooner the better. All citizens will agree on these points. Can any citizen show where the municipal council has made a satisfactory plan for any one of these improvements? It is for the voters of Lowell to decide whether it is wise or sensible to be fooled any longer by false promises and plans that never materialize.

HAMPTON BEACH FIRE

The warning that was given at Old Orchard and at Salisbury beach was not heeded by Hampton beach, which has now paid a heavy penalty for its neglect. There is nothing surprising about the fire under the circumstances and the real surprise is that it did not come sooner. What else can be expected at a beach resort where the houses are of the flimsiest variety and built close together of inflammable materials without adequate provision for fire prevention or fire fighting? Hampton beach was not a greater offender in this respect than many other beaches, but to each and all the day of revelation will come when fire shall sweep their tinsel properties and destroy most of them.

One of the most regrettable features of the Hampton beach fire was that with the cheap cottages and stores many really fine buildings went up in smoke. The Ashworth, the Grand View hotel, the Janvyn, and many other beach hotels well known to the people of this city were swept away and though the total loss is not estimated at more than $250,000, this is a great deal for a beach fire. It must now seem foolish to the owners of some of the finer properties that they invested so much money where the risks were so great. Children playing with matches and a stiff wind can make short work of a beach prospect where the houses are of wood and when the water supply is weak. The wonder is that any building was left on the beach proper, and it is probable that had the wind not shifted there would be little left except the sand and the ocean.

Old Orchard learned its lesson to some extent and renewed the beach buildings on a better scale while making more adequate fire-fighting preparations. Salisbury, too, showed improvement and some of its largest hotels are now constructed out of concrete and other non-inflammable materials. Hampton must follow suit when it gets down to the work of renewal and improvement must be shown in the new buildings together with some thorough system of fire fighting. It is high time we saw that the world does not hold a stronger invitation to fire than the average American beach resort.

THE LIBRARY LEAGUE

We note with pleasure the formation of a library league for the promotion of a love of good reading among the children of the city and we wish for the venture the fullest measure of success. The proposition goes deeper than the mere fostering of a love for good reading as one of its main objects is to see that only the best books are secured and placed in the hands of the young. This is an object in which all who have loved books or read much in their infancy can aid without reservation. The rules for the active members under 15 are quite practical. They include a determination to handle library books carefully with clean hands, to be quiet and orderly in the children's room, and to invite others to join. Adults who join the league are asked among other things to advocate the reading of good books among the residents of their respective neighborhoods, and to co-operate in every practical way that would spread the influence of good books among the young of the city. Now when so much time of the juveniles is spent at the movies or in pursuits that leave no permanent benefit if they are not positively injurious, it is well indeed to see people banded together for such an inspiring and worthy object.

STORE WINDOWS

One of the phases of the coming fashion week in this city, according to published plans, will be a live competition between the leading stores in the matter of window displays. This calls attention to a feature of modern business not often mentioned in the press but of very special interest. Window trimming has become an art of trade in the truest sense, and it has possibilities which are only just being developed. In the larger cities the standards of good taste are being adhered to more and more and the effects are frequently so beautiful as to compel admiration and study. Window trimming is no longer the mere filling of a large space with merchandise; it is the artistic arrangement of form and color so as to convey a definite message, and so planned as to make a picture in which the details are subservient to one central idea. Three articles well arranged so as to be attractive in line and color will make a more striking effect than a jumble of goods without thought or design. Lowell is better off in this respect than the average city, and fashion week should give us some rare revelations of good taste and good business arrangement.

TIT FOR TAT

In retaliation for the aerial attacks on London, the greatest aerial fleet used at one time since the war started made a raid on Stuttgart, Wurttemberg, last Wednesday and did some effective work. Most of the attacks were directed against the army barracks, the railroad station and the royal palace. A despatch from Switzerland states that one wing of the royal palace, in which were members of the royal family, was damaged, and the American consul has sent word to Washington that the American consulate was struck by a fragment of a bomb. This brings to a point the discussion as to what this country should do should one of the Zeppelin bombs damage American property or take American life in London, for our government will view such attacks in the same light, whether by the Germans or by the allies. It is difficult to blame the allies for retaliation after a Zeppelin attack on London or any other English city but as seen in this country two wrongs do not make a right, even in war time.

A HOBBO REFUGEE

Jeff Davis, the noted proprietor of the Hotel de Gink in New York, has hit on a plan to utilize Uncle Sam's old warships and incidentally give a haven of refuge to 4000 hobboes for the winter. Going through Philadelphia after having had an interview with President Wilson at Washington he saw it was absolute battle-ship in the channel, and immediately he thought that there was a fine opportunity for a double service. He is going to ask Secretary Daniels for eight of the ships. There are features of the plan that merit serious consideration. It would take away the hobboes that are exploited every winter by social ad-vertisers it would do good. If the scrap-iron vessels would come to the rescue of those destined for the human scrap heap, good again. But, better than all of these should some steamy night drift out to sea and on to some desert island where Davis and his merry men would have to work or starve—ah, there's the great consideration. Let them have the ships by all means.

A FATAL FROLIC

As the result of a class clash, common in the larger colleges, Lynn Fuller of Washington, D. C., died Wednesday night at Stanford University, Cal. This is the second death from that cause in the history of the university but in one form or another all universities have had such experiences. Modern thought is against such dangerous happenings, and Americans fail to see why centres of education and culture should degenerate to the level of the savage. Hazing, class rivalries, extremes in sport and such things have no place in a university or college conducted on civilized and Christian principles. Had the death of young Fuller happened on the streets during a riot, somebody would be charged with manslaughter. Why is the crime different on the campus of a university where the pupils are supposed to be intelligent young gentlemen?

SUBWAY DISASTER

Over one hundred witnesses will be examined at the New York investigation into the subway disaster. The papers make a great deal of this fact, but, after all, what does it amount to? The man who was in the street car will testify that it fell into a hole, the laborer will testify that he saw the roof of the subway tumble down, and the policeman will tell how he heard a roar, saw the confusion and rang for the fire department. Graphic stories will not make reparation for the damage or provide against a repetition of the accident. Better far that the investigators have a clever lawyer who knows the regulations and that he demand an explanation from city officials and railroad officials. Hearing too many witnesses whose testimony is mostly irrelevant is one of the weaknesses of our manifold investigations.

If the bankers of this country are pro-English, they do not show it. The public expected that the loan to the allies would be negotiated without delay but as yet both sides are haggling as to terms. American business is sentimental on occasions but in a strictly business matter it is pro-American first. The longer the delay, the sander will be the ultimate transaction.

Germany has given in to the American government so far as the last note on the Frye goes. Actions speak louder than words and we shall see what we shall see.

And the promise of one campaign may become the piffle of the next.

A lively campaign and live issues!

SEEN AND HEARD

A party of young men and women, members of a sketching club, were motoring along a country road. Just within the fence on the left grew innumerable graceful stalks, each bearing globes of pale green that shaded into gray and purple.

"How enchanting!" exclaimed one young woman.

"Do tell me," said another young woman, equally enthusiastic, to a gardener standing near, "what these beautiful things are?"

"Them? Them's onions gone to seed."

Suffrage and Mine-Pie

A speaker at a Boston rally invited questions the other evening and a young man asked this one: "Suppose a woman doesn't want to vote?"

"That reminds me of a story," said the speaker. "A man went into a restaurant in a country town, and after finishing his meat and potatoes looked up inquiringly at the waitress who was standing near."

"Pie?" she asked in a very compelling manner.

"Is it compulsory?" asked the man.

"No, sir," replied the waitress. "It's mine."

The speaker was rewarded by a laugh from the audience.

But the inquirer wasn't satisfied.

"I don't get the point," he insisted.

"Do you mean to say that if a woman doesn't want to vote she can eat a piece of mine pie?"

"No," replied the speaker patiently.

"What I mean to say is that if a woman doesn't want to vote she needn't vote."

"Thank you," said the man to the audience. "I was worried about the vote."

THIN GIRLS, CUT THIS OUT

The expressions of happiness and gratitude of several of his young lady patients for whom he prescribed the recently successful "Cutting Out" tablets, is related by a physician in one of the medical publications, and it comes as a surprise to the ordinary layman to learn the heart throbs of distress which seem to affect so many young people who are abnormally thin.

mince-pie. You see, my wife likes mince pies when they are in season."

Many a man has gone to bed by candle light so as to save enough money to enable his son to leave the electric lights burn all night.

Some beauty may be skin deep. But most of it rubs off when you touch it. You may not believe it. But there are men in this country who eat five times a day and vote the prohibition ticket.

A woman will sit around the house for four days and make up her mind to do a thing. Then she will get up and do something else.

When you take a better half prepare for the worst.

After all, play is merely work that you are not compelled to do, and for which you receive no pay.

After a girl has been on the bargain shelf for a few years she doesn't find much to make her ideal man conform to the exact specifications of the milt who is willing to take her.

Before he gets her she tells him that her hands are cold because a cold hand is a sign of a warm heart. After he gets her he discovers that both her heart and her feet have joined her hands.

There are all sorts of people in the world, including the man who likes to attend funerals in order to ride in rubber-tired hacks.

Talking about being busy! The man who has charge of a plant that employs 60,000 men is a loafer when compared with a woman who is trying to raise six small children.

A smile may hide a man's thoughts, just as paint occasionally conceals a woman's complexion.

A soldier on leave tells how birds warn the allies of a gas attack. Long before the smell of the fumes can be detected in the trenches there is a great clattering of birds awakened from their night's repose. The birds fly away beyond reach of the fumes, but in the meantime the British soldier is prepared.

A certain matron alludes to a gown of hers as her "quarrel dress."

"It always wears it," she exclaims, "when I have had a quarrel with my husband."

"But why do you call it a quarrel dress?"

"Because it is the only gown I have that doesn't button in the back. Consequently, I don't have to call on the old grumbler to help me."

Onward Bound
(By an officer who has since fallen in)

There's a waterfall I'm leaving
Running down the rocks in foam.
There's a pool for which I'm grieving,
Near the waterfalls I'm home.

And it's there that I'll be lying
With the heather close at hand,
And the curlews faintly crying,
Mid the wastes of Cumberland.

While the midnight watch is winging
Thoughts of other days arise.
I can hear the river singing
Like the labourer's cry: "I rise."

I can see the water twinkling
Like the merry eyes of Pan,
And the slow half-pounder sinking
By the bridge's granite span.

Ah! to win them back and clamour,
Braced anew with winds I love,
From the unbroken forest
To the morning mist above.

See through cloud-rifts rent asunder,
Like a painted scroll unfurled,
Ridge and hollow rolling under,
To the fringes of the world.

Now the weary guard are sleeping,
Now the great propellers churn,
Now the labourer's cry is creeping
Into emptiness aken.

While the sentry wakes and watches
Plunging triangles of light
Where the water leaps and catches
At our escort in the night.

Great their happiness who seeing
Glimpses of the unbroken sky,
Kin of theirs who gave them being,
Sun and earth that made them wise.

Die and feel their embers quicken
Dear by year in summer time,
When the cotton grasses thicken
On the hills they used to climb.

Shall we also be as they be,
Mingled with our mother clay,
Or return no more it may be?
Who has knowledge, who shall say?

Yes, we hope that from the bosom
Of the earth shall come a new
When the earth breaks into blossom
Richer from the dust of man.

Though the high gods smite and slay
Us,
Though we come not whence we go,
As the host of Menelaus.

Can the labourer's cry be so:
Ye the self-gone shall hear us.
From the same departing place
Out across the Gulf of Saros.

And the peaks of Samothrace
We shall pass in summer weather
We shall come at eventide
Where the fells stand up together.

Mixed with cloud and wind and river,
Sun-distilled in dew and rain
One with Cumberland forever,
We shall go forth again.

Hampton Beach
Plans for Rebuilding—Blaze Accidental Says Fire Chief

HAMPTON BEACH, N. H., Sept. 25.—The disastrous fire of Thursday, which swept over acres of the most thickly built part of Hampton Beach, has, according to the leading men of the beach, taught them a lesson; and from now on the building ordinances of the town will be made more stringent, so that there will not be a repetition of the disaster.

The town authorities admit that the fire would not have got such a start if it were not for the inflammable materials used in the construction of a number of buildings along the beach front.

The insurance underwriters and town officials place the loss yesterday at $200,000 and claim that there is not more than $125,000 insurance.

Many of the cottages were not insured and practically all of the hotels did not carry more than half insurance.

L. C. Ring of Hampton is the principal loser and he estimates his loss at about $10,000 with only $5,000 insurance.

The Ashworth hotel had $10,000 insurance against a loss of $25,000, and this was about the proportion on all buildings that carried insurance.

Yesterday there was a most encouraging air about the beach and all of the property owners say that they will rebuild as soon as the debris is sufficiently cool to be cleared away.

George Ashworth has been laid off since he entered the hotel business here. He lost his first house two years ago and the second hotel destroyed in the fire was the best of his.

Yesterday that he would rebuild and hoped for better luck with the third attempt.

There was an attempt yesterday to inject the professional firebug theory into the cause of the fire but Chief Ring of the fire department discredited the report, saying he is convinced it was the careless work of children.

Two Held Up and Robbed
GUNMEN ROB OWNERS OF BOSTON FRUIT STANDS IN MARKET DISTRICT

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—At the point of revolvers two men were held up in Exchange place, in the banking district of this city, about 9 o'clock last night and were relieved of $25 each.

The men who held them up escaped and the police are now searching for them.

The victims of the robberies are Paul Strazzella, 24, of 24 Hale street, and Dominick Spina, 21, of 24 Hale street, West End. Both are owners of small fruit stands in Atlantic avenue near Rowe's wharf.

It is the custom of both men to close their stands shortly before 9 o'clock and then cut across the city to their homes in the West End of the city. It is the belief of the police that they were either trailed from their stands to Exchange place or else the thieves waited for them at this point, which is one of the most deserted parts of the city.

The first intimation of trouble came when they saw two men in dark clothes pointed their guns at them and they were told to stop.

And less than seven thousand personal friends about equally divided among the nine wards, the two parties and the three dominant races of the city.

Your petition asking me to become a candidate for the position of Commissioner at the next election, coming as it does from all sections of the city and representing almost exclusively the tax-paying silent voters irrespective of party, cannot be otherwise than gratifying to any man.

It is certainly the only proper way of introducing a candidate. And if it means anything it is a protest against the principle of having men in control who are compelled to trim and vacillate on all questions of public interest for the fear of prejudicing their re-election.

The nature of my business for the time an acquaintance with all of the people in all parts of the city. And, if my opinion is of any value, the tax-paying citizens are sick at nausea of the perpetual candidate. But this is neither the time nor place to enlarge on this subject.

You have asked me a question. To which I respond that I do not think that you have chosen the most available man, for I am not a member of any of the political clubs or associations who have been able in the past to dictate to you a choice of two evils. But as you have done me the unusual honor of a wholly unsolicited petition, it is my duty to you to give the matter my personal attention for a few days and to let you have a definite answer in time to form other alliances.

Respectfully yours,

SOLDIERS FOR FARM
Petition to Dominion Government to Discharge Troops for Farm Duty After War

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 25.—A petition to the dominion government to enlist discharged soldiers for five years' farm duty after the war, and a request that the provisional government grant a six hour day were two of the most important resolutions adopted last night by the Dominion trades and labor congress, which was to complete its work today.

The congress endorsed other resolutions which urged the abolition of government bonuses to organizations bringing in immigration, the total exclusion of further Oriental immigration, the abolition of private labor agencies the establishment of an international literacy test for immigrants, and the appointment of Federal and imperial commissions to consider employment and emigration problems.

An enthusiastic meeting of Court General Dimon, 217, Foresters of America, was held last evening in Graffett hall. Five applications for membership were received and referred. It was reported that only two members remain on the sick list. Deputy John Barrett gave an interesting

HOW SANDSTONES DIFFER

The products of rock decomposition may be reconsolidated either by great pressure or by the injection of cementing materials, or by both. Thus sands are formed into sandstones, clays become shales, and calcareous deposits yield limestone. Aside from their cementing materials, sandstones differ in composition exactly as did the sands of which they are composed. Sandstone, according to the United States geological survey, may be nearly pure quartz, or quartz and feldspar, or quartz, feldspar and mica and it may vary in texture from the fine to the coarse.

Some sandstone is so coarse that it will hold six quarts of water to the cubic foot, and underground deposits of such sandstone form excellent reservoirs, which may yield a never-failing supply of water. An arkose sandstone from the quicksilver region of California, made up of granite detritus, was found to contain quartz, orthoclase, oligoclase, biotite, muscovite, hornblende, titanite, rutile, tourmaline and apatite. In short all the rock-forming minerals which can in any way survive the destruction or grinding up of a rock may be found in sands, and therefore in sandstones.

REGISTRATION OF ARCHITECTS

The architect's registration law recently passed in Michigan and which went into effect on Aug. 24, prescribes for the licensing of persons engaged in the drawing of plans and specifications for buildings for others, which are to be constructed by a person other than the architect. Any builder may draw plans for himself or for any building that is being erected under his own supervision.

A board of five examiners has been appointed to examine and register all who desire to use the title of architect or to practice architecture in the state of Michigan. The members of the board are: Prof. Emil Lorch of the University of Michigan; George D. Mason, Detroit; D. Fred Charlton, Marquette; A. R. Munger, Bay City, and S.

"BUILDERS' WEEK" AT EXPOSITION

From the standpoint of many of our readers doubtless the most important coming event of the year in connection with the Panama-Pacific International exposition is "American Builders' Week," which occurs from Oct. 15 to 23. The importance of the builder as an individual as well as collectively and his intimate connection with all industrial and national progress is once manifest when it is recalled that 46 per cent of the entire population of the United States is directly or indirectly dependent upon the building industry and its success. No one line of business has more to do with progress than the builders of homes, of cities and towns, and those public utilities upon which depend the comfort, health and happiness of the people.

Probably no such opportunity as "American Builders' Week" has ever occurred before for promoting harmony among the building fraternity of the country, nor could a more appropriate place or season for such a gathering have been selected. Actively identified as builders naturally are in the upbuilding and development of our cities and towns, these visitors to San Francisco this year will have not only the opportunity of viewing the greatest collection of exquisitely beautiful exposition buildings ever created, but in the city by the Golden Gate they will find what is today, without doubt, the most up-to-the-minute, modern city in the world.

From a mass of ashes and complete desolation which covered over four square miles in April, 1906, a new city has arisen; a new San Francisco stands today an eloquent monument to her local builders—the men who are now cordially inviting their brethren and all who build to come and view their finished work, to share their hospitality and to contribute by their presence to the joy and success of "American Builders' Week."

It may not be without interest to state that additional information may be obtained by addressing the Public-

About 4,000 are Subject to Call to Arms — They Will Go if Required

The mobilization order of King Constantine of Greece, news of which was published in The Sun yesterday, has stirred the members of the local Greek community to no small extent and already several of them have got busy drilling at once. The official mobilization order will be read in the Greek Orthodox church tomorrow and it is believed next week a large number of men will report to the Greek consul in Boston for their passports. The accident occurred at the top of a long hill, near the Waltham-Weston McElroy, and was going at a moderate rate of speed when the rear wheels skidded. McElroy instantly applied the brakes and the machine swerved to the side of the road, overturning to its side as it struck the bank.

The four women and one man, passengers, were thrown to the floor of the car. Several windows were broken and some of the passengers were cut by flying glass. Dr. Frank H. Doyle was summoned and treated the injured. All were able to go to their homes unassisted.

TRADERS NAT'L BANK

THE THIRD DIVIDEND PAID OFF TODAY—BIG CROWD OF DEPOSITORS

A corps of clerks at the Traders National bank started paying off the third dividend to the depositors of the bank this morning and they were kept busy at the counters from 8:30 this morning until 3 o'clock this afternoon, the biggest rush being after the closing of the mills.

Several hundred persons, men, women and children were on deck at the opening of the bank, but the efficient method of paying employed by those in attendance was the cause of no long waits as was experienced during previous payments.

There were two clerks at each window. One receives the credentials in advance and gets the cheque ready, while the other handles the receipts which are signed by the depositors and hands over the cheques. There are two attendants in the banking rooms, who direct the depositors to their respective windows, this being done by means of numbers on the credentials.

Not all of the depositors called for their cheques today and the banking hours will be the same next week or until all depositors have received another ten per cent of their deposits. Everything is working harmoniously and people are being paid off at the rate of about 60 per hour, which is considered extraordinarily good under the circumstances. Receiver Murray was not at the bank this morning, having been called out of town on important business.

Mr. Harry E. White of Bridgeport, Conn., who has made such a wonderful hit with that old and famous ballad, "Mother Machree," will render that most beautiful number on next Thursday evening.

Prof. Harold McGuire of Lawrence and Miss Amelia Warner of Lowell will give an exhibition of all modern dancing.

The Moose Cabaret Girls will give a special entertainment.

Mr. Frank McDonough of Boston, known throughout New England as the piano wizard, will render several very pleasing and difficult numbers on the piano.

Mr. Harry Smith, another very pleasing singer, will do his best to entertain those attending.

DUMBA MUST GO HELD IN $10,000

United States Insists That Austrian Ambassador be Recalled

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Ambassador Penfield at Vienna has been instructed to make clear to the Austrian government informally that the United States must insist on the recall of Dr. Dumba, the Austrian ambassador, and that his departure "on leave of absence" would not be satisfactory.

From messages exchanged between Ambassador Penfield and the state department, it is apparent that the Austrian government, misunderstood the desires of the United States. It was intimated at first to Ambassador Penfield that the Austrian government might recall Dr. Dumba on leave of absence and might desire safe conduct for him.

Dr. Dumba telegraphed for safe conduct a few days later, informing the state department that he had been granted leave of absence. No action was taken on his request, but it was forwarded to Ambassador Penfield, instructions sent to Mr. Penfield were not disclosed, but he has been authorized to make it clear that Dr. Dumba's usefulness as the Austrian ambassador to the United States has ceased and that if given "merely leave of absence" he would, nevertheless, still remain accredited.

The right of a government to demand the recall of an ambassador because of his personal acts, is unquestioned under international law, and, according to officials, if the Austrian government persisted in refusing to recall Dr. Dumba, passports could be handed to him. There is no indication as yet that this will be necessary, the delay in the Austrian government's decision, it is said, being due to difficulties in cable transmission.

It was stated officially today, that all the messages from the state department to the Austrian embassy at Vienna had reached there.

LONGSHOREMEN STRIKE

400 WORKING ON PIERS QUIT WORK IN NEW YORK—WANT MORE PAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Four hundred longshoremen working on piers in the north river walked out on strike today for more pay.

The longshoremen now on strike were employed by the Maine and Metropolitan Steamship companies and the Jersey Central and Penna. railroads.

"Why the men walked out is more than I can tell," said Albert Smith, chief steward of the steamship company.

"They received the best pay along the river front and when they walked out this morning they voiced no grievances, but merely said they were through. This is what I characterize as labor unrest coming from an out side influence that we cannot put our finger on. I am sure that the longshoremen's union is not behind this walkout."

3000 New Out

The walkout increases the number of longshoremen on strike to about 800 which, together with 2100 men who have been on strike for a week or more at the railroad terminals on the New Jersey side of the Hudson, makes a total of nearly 3000 idle freight handlers in the metropolitan district.

Admiral Dehneke, vice chief of the naval general staff, also is out, and it is understood his successor will be Admiral Von Koch, inspector of marine instruction at the naval academy, although this is unconfirmed.

VERY ACTIVE MARKET

EXTENSIVE BUYING OF LEADING RAILWAY STOCKS—CLOSING WAS STRONG

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Extensive buying of the leading railway stocks, mostly at higher prices, was the dominant feature of today's very active stock market. The inquiry converged around such standard issues as Penna., the transcontinental group and the principal trunk lines, with a fair sprinkling of southern issues. Gains ranged from 1 to 4 points, and the gains seemed to derive its inspiration from substantial sources. For the first time in many weeks, specialists played a subordinate part, although a few material gains were registered by those stocks, notably Baldwin Locomotive, Messrs. Lackawanna Steel and Texas Company.

The closing was strong. Bonds were steady and strong.

GRAND CIRCUIT

"Pop" Geers, Veteran Driver, Loses in Hot Six-Heat Duel

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 25.—The veteran driver, "Pop" Geers, lost the hardest fought race which he has participated this season yesterday. He was beaten by Murphy in the 2.05 trot, the feature of what was to have been the closing program of the first week of the Grand Circuit meeting here. He drove the favorite, St. Frisco, but the fast and game 4-year-old which he had purchased this season, yesterday, he was the hardest kind of racing before the latter could turn the trick.

St. Frisco had shown as well of late that he was installed favorite for the 2.05 trot, selling for $100 against $50 for the field.

The Canadian gelding, who won in the largest field of the season on Monday, Mithril trotted the greatest mile of her life in the second heat, beating the field in 2.06 1-4, Geers riding rather easy with the favorite.

In the third heat Mithril and landed a brace of victories, which made St. Frisco an easy winner, but in the fourth he had to drive the colt desperately to stall off Mithril and Laramie Lad.

Mithril took the lead at the start of the fifth and held it all the way. In the sixth heat Geers took Mithril's place over to the half in 1.03, but St. Frisco was done at that point and Mithril jogged in a winner.

After John D. had won the first heat of the 2.06 pace, Lou McDonald went to the front with the favorite, Hastes, landing him in front in the next three rounds, in the second and third heats.

John D. was second and the judges decided that Osborn was not using his best efforts. He was "decree'd" and an Indiana half mile track tenasser, Rhodes, was substituted. John finished a lonesome fourth which made it 2.15 as if the judges erred.

When darkness put an end to the 2.15 pace, three horses had a heat each. Budd Elliott, piloted by Geers, took advantage of a wreck on the first turn in the first heat and won easily. Mithril Rejected fell while the sulky of Red Mike was sent to the hospital.

Yates, driver of Miss Rejected, was so badly injured that he was taken to a hospital. Thistle Patch was best in the second heat, winning a record of 2.05 1-4, his first winning heat in two seasons' racing. Red Mike outpaced him at the finish of the third heat, the race then being postponed. Two special races have been arranged to fill out the program for today. The summary:

THE SPELLBINDER

The primaries are over and quite a few people have been disappointed and are sore, while others are taking conditions philosophically and are trying to make the best of them. Among the latter is the editor of the Courier-Citizen who only last week was eloquently urging the nomination of Mr. Cushing as the only man who could defeat Governor Walsh, but who now just as eloquently sets forth the superiority of Mr. McCall.

What grudge have we got against ourselves, pray? The editor of the Courier-Citizen, "that we must condemn ourselves to elect a poor sort of governor when we could have better?" meaning by the "poor sort of governor," Hon. David I. Walsh. By the same token, what grudge had the republicans against themselves last Tuesday, when they nominated the poorer sort of candidate for governor, after the editor of the Courier-Citizen had extended himself in a well-meant attempt to get them right as to the relative merits of Messrs. Cushing and McCall?

And harking back about five years when Dr. Tucker resigned as president of Dartmouth college, if I remember rightly, at that time, the editor of the Courier-Citizen repeatedly asked what grudge the faculty of that institution had against the editor of the paper who had just resigned, and offered the presidency of Dartmouth to this same Hon. Samuel McCall. Strange that a nonpartisan paper should continually put forth such hidebound partisan views!

Poor School Accommodations

When school closed last June there was considerable talk about the need of accommodations to meet the demand that would be made at the reopening of the sessions in September. But nothing was done but to talk. Now the schools are again open and the children are crowded in like sardines in a box in the Highland and other schools. It would appear that the city is not only short on seating capacity but also on supplies, for in the Highland school and perhaps in others some of the children are yet without their full supply of books and for several days many of them had no books at all. This is a reflection upon the principal of each school in this or in any other schools where these conditions may have existed or do exist, but upon the department, as conducted by the school board. The latter appears to have been amply supplied with money with which to increase salaries and purchase automobiles and yet it hasn't enough books to give to the children. The principal admits that there is great need of more accommodations at the new Bartlett, Pawtucketville and Highland schools, but he says that he's afraid they'll not be made, as all of the members are not agreed that they should be made this year. That's a polite and diplomatic way of putting it. Commissioner Putnam, however, knows the real reason. He is not a candidate for re-election while any improvements in the line of schools will go to his credit as the head of the buildings department and could not be exploited by the three members now seeking re-election as achievements of theirs. Hence such improvements must be sidetracked while bridges, street and other improvements that come directly under the men seeking re-election must be given preference. As has been previously stated in this column the business policy of the administration is dictated by politics. "How many votes will it get us?" is the question uppermost in the minds of a majority of the members of the municipal council at the present time.

The Do-Nothing Administration

Commissioner Putnam emphatically seconds the motion that this is a "do-nothing" administration when he says: "I was in hopes that work would have been started on the new high school before this late date, but we don't seem to be able to start anything." The mayor was voted the authority to employ a consulting architect and I have not heard from him. I am positively ashamed of the delays that have taken place, but it seems impossible to get anything started. We have not yet succeeded in striking a single nail on any of the four big positions with which we have to deal, namely, the high school, Pawtucket bridge, contagious hospital and extension of Dunster street.

Commissioner Putnam might have added that the government hasn't yet finished the Rogers street extension; it hasn't as yet purchased any fire apparatus although the money has been available for six months; it hasn't extended Porter street although the money for that improvement was voted two years ago.

No Fire Apparatus

It is a good bet that the city of Lowell will have no new motor fire apparatus this year. The best it can do, would be to get hold of some second hand stuff, for the makers of these trucks cannot get out any new products between now and the close of the year. Last March $18,000 was borrowed for the purchase of auto trucks for the fire department. The interest on that amount which the city must pay is $640 per year, assuming that the city pays 4 per cent interest and thus there will be wasted that amount, just for the privilege of allowing $18,000 to be idle for a year in the city treasury. Meanwhile, one reads in the municipal journals, cities and towns all over the country purchasing different makes of automobiles at different prices every day in the year, and yet the city of Lowell having been given the money and authority way back in March hasn't been able to make a single purchase after six months' dalliance.

Contaminating Watersheds

In view of the Courier-Citizen's editorial approval of the Varnum land as a suitable site for a contagious disease hospital the following editorial in yesterday's issue of that paper is quite interesting. Says the Courier-Citizen: "New York State is to have a big hospital and boys' school on the city watershed and the municipal authorities viewed with alarm the prospects that the sewage would ultimately find its way into the city water supply. It was planned to 'purify' the drainage and eliminate the germs and things before the water was turned into the city pipes, but it is slight in the end the city may buy the state's property and remove the institutions altogether."

JUST THE RIGHT TIME TO FIGURE ON FUEL

Are you like most every other family that forget all about coal weather till the last minute and then nearly break their necks trying to get some fuel to start the fires going?

Well, this is a gentle reminder of what happened a year ago, how you said "Never again" and vowed that next season would find you in preparation.

So let's do some figuring now while the figuring's good.

Here is the first thing to think about—nearly a third of the fuel burned in Lowell last year was coke—about 30,000 tons of coke and 65,000 tons of coal.

The people who used coke saved more than $60,000. They saved $2.00 on every ton. How much would your family have saved on last season's coal bills at this rate? Something over $20,000! Worth saving!

And remember this saving was accomplished with coal selling at $8.00 per ton—this year coal has gone up to $8.50 per ton, $3.75 for nut coal. Coke in any size, nut, medium or coarse, costs $2.00 per ton. From last year, between 35,000 and 40,000 tons of Lowell Coke will be sold in Lowell this year. That means Lowell households will save between $30,000 and $100,000 by using a better and more economical fuel.

The fuel of the future is going to be coke. All over the country more and more families every year are finding out the economy and satisfaction of using coke, providing it is the modern kind made by the latest improved methods.

One reason why almost everybody is changing to coke is because coke itself has changed. New and better methods of making coke have produced what is practically a new fuel, a fuel that beats coal in every way.

The Lowell Coke plant is kept right up to the minute, with horizontal retorts, automatic equipment, and every known process of improving the output. Lowell Coke comes from all petroleum gases, practically 90% pure fuel, burns with no clinkers and only a trace of ashes.

With this splendid fuel right at your door, you are throwing your money away when you keep on using coal which is costly, dirty and gassy.

Hundreds of Lowell families have waked up to the fact and have changed to coke.

Think this over, talk it over—and then order a load of Lowell Coke on trial. You can tell quick enough whether it does all we claim. If it doesn't, we'll return your money. If it does, you can't afford to use any thing else and will burn Lowell Coke all winter.

TO JOIN RESUIT ORDER THE NEW FARE SCHEDULE

Those Traffic Rules

The congested condition of middle street, at present being used as a parking place for autos rather than a public thoroughfare, makes it inconvenient not only for the fire apparatus to get through the street in responding to an alarm but will be an annoyance to the candidates when they start to dash through the city in their autos to make their street corner speeches. The traffic rules have been "lying dormant" at city hall for 15 months, which does not speak very well for the influence of our board of trade that was much interested in the matter of traffic rules some time ago. But then it is evident that this administration does not take the board of trade seriously. At a board of trade banquet nearly two years ago His Honor stated that he would reduce the cost of lighting $25,000, and he subsequently increased that cost. Fifteen months ago the administration "kicked" the board of trade relative to making and enforcing adequate traffic rules, but has done nothing as yet except to assure those who don't want the rules, that the board of trade is behind them.

The "Soundings" Committee

Between the "healing" committee of the police department of some time ago and the "soundings" committee of the present time, the friends of the mayor certainly take an active interest in the liquor dealers, other than to see to it that certain of them obey the law rigidly. Some time ago the "healing" committee assured the dealers that the campaign resolutions and promises had been canned, and "everything was all right." Now the soundings committee is around to see how they stand on the coming majority contest and to advance reasons as to why they should support Mayor Murphy for a second term. The soundings committee must be given credit for being game and playing no favorites, for it is said that its members have even visited liquor dealers who have been "under the ban" of the administration, assuring them that the past had been forgotten and should be forgotten, and that henceforth everything will be all right.

The Teel Case

The action of the school board in refusing a pension to George Teel is causing much comment due to the fact that while men who pay large tax bills and apparently are in excellent health are receiving pensions from the city, Mr. Teel, a veteran who was injured in the city's service and who is now crippled, helpless and with no real estate or income cannot get a pension.

Communication on School Matter

Sept. 24, 1915.

Dear Mr. Spellbinder:

Permit the victims of a negligent, if not a malicious, action to thank you for calling attention to conditions at the Highland school, the crowding of the pupils from the Middlesex Village and Franklin schools into the attic and not providing them with books. The Middlesex Village children going to the Highland school are being crowded into the attic and not provided with books. The Franklin school children are being crowded into the attic and not provided with books. # IN MAYORALTY CONTEST

JACKSON PALMER RELATED A PARABLE TO CROWD WHO HEARD HIM AT LIBERTY SQUARE

Jackson Palmer addressed a gathering of voters at Liberty Square Thursday evening and opened his remarks with a parable about Roosevelt, the trust-buster. He stated that Roosevelt started in to bust the trusts and upon his election shouldered his big stick and went forth to exterminate all trusts. As he became proficient as a hunter of trusts he found that there were two kinds of trusts, the good trusts and the bad trusts. Subsequently it was brought out that the bad trusts had opposed his election while the good trusts were those that supported him either morally or financially when he was a candidate. Two years ago he said Mayor Murphy went forth to bust the illegal liquor traffic and to rigidly enforce the liquor laws and like Roosevelt he found there were two kinds, the good liquor dealers and the bad liquor dealers. The good liquor dealers were those who espoused the cause of Murphy and the bad liquor dealers those who had opposed the cause of O'Donnell. Mr. Palmer then told how the "good" and the "bad" were treated by the police. He charged Mayor Murphy with "bluffing" the voters of Belvidere by the Highlands by his promise of a beautiful $700,000 high school, with bluffing the voters of Pawtucketville by the promise of a new bridge, and "bluffing" the voters who get their living by the sweat of their brow by the promise of a new bridge and the improvements, all of which he promised, but his promises have not materialized.

Mr. Palmer repeated his remarks relative to the election of a license commissioner figuring in the candidacy of Mayor Murphy.

WATER DAMAGE $7000

Haverhill, Sept. 25.—A $7000 water damage followed by a very small fire last night on the fifth floor of the Gardner block, a five story brick building at 23-25 Railroad square.

The two upper floors are occupied by the National Leather company, the third floor by the Bay State Inner Sole company, the second floor by Rosenbark & Cook, shoe trimmings, and the first floor by Daniel Kelley, sole leather and heels.

The fire started in some unknown way on top of the drying racks on the top floor, and when the firemen arrived, summoned by an automatic alarm, they found that the flames had started all the automatic sprinklers and that the water was pouring down through stairways, elevator wells and floors, flooding the building.

About $7000 of the loss is borne by the National Leather Co., the balance being divided among the other three occupants and Simon Sturges, shoe ornaments, at 21 Railroad square, the club, one of the leading social and athletic organizations of the "Acra," has come to the front with a bowling league which will compare favorably with any ever formed in this town. The rivalry is exceedingly keen and some lively contests are looked for during the coming winter months. The league started up full blast this week when four teams out of the eleven entered the first contest. R. O'Brien of the defeated Rex Sox quintet being the honor man, his three string total being 322. The officials of the organization have appropriated $50 prizes and in addition several valuable silver loving cups will be awarded the winners. The organization has plans made for its annual social and dance and several social events to be held during the cold months for the entertainment of the members and their friends.

PROPOSED INCREASE OF BAY STATE STREET RAILWAY EXPLAINED—HEARING ON PROTESTS

RODOLPHE BOUDREAU. GEORGE MARIN.

Two Lowell Young Men, George Marin and Rodolphe Boudreau, Enter Novitiate

Two well known young men, both graduates of the Boston college, George Marin and Rodolphe Boudreau, have entered the seminary of the Jesuit order, the former at Montreal, Que., and the latter at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Both are now following a preparatory course with a view of joining the order.

George Marin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marin of 213 Pawtucket street. He was born in this city 20 years ago and after his elementary schooling he entered St. Anselm's college, Manchester, N. H., and there followed a six-year course, after which he went to Boston college, graduating there in 1913. Last year he received his degree of bachelor of arts from the Boston college.

Mr. Marin after completing his studies at the Boston college decided to take up a law course and entered Harvard. He was soon recognized as a very bright scholar in French and during his spare moments he taught the French language. During his last vacation, which he spent at the home of his parents in this city, Mr. Marin gave up all ideas of becoming a lawyer and entered St. Joseph's novitiate at Montreal, Que., which is being conducted by the Jesuit Fathers. In case he pursues the regular course it will be twelve years before he is ordained to the priesthood.

Rodolphe Boudreau is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Boudreau of 346 Lakeview avenue and is also a native of this city, being now 21 years of age. He received his early education at St. Joseph's college, where he graduated with honors at the age of 15. He then entered the Boston college preparatory school and four years ago he entered the college, graduating last year, at which time he received his degree, being then the only Lowell man upon whom that degree was conferred in 1914.

Mr. Boudreau has always been very active in dramatic circles and was at one time recognized as one of the best local amateurs. While at the Boston college he also took part in several prominent plays, always holding a leading part. At the opening of the fall term of the colleges and seminaries, Mr. Boudreau entered St. Andrew's seminary in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., conducted by the Jesuit Fathers, and is now following a preparatory course, hoping later to join the order.

Both Mr. Marin and Mr. Boudreau count a host of friends in this city, who wish them success in their new career.

Proposed Increase of Bay State Street Railway Explained—Hearing on Protests

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—The proposed new fare schedule of the Bay State Street railway, to go into effect Nov. 1, subject to such action as may be taken by the public service commission, is explained in detail in pamphlets which the company issued yesterday in response to an order of the commission.

The commission will soon give hearings upon the protests which have already resulted from the announcement that a general increase in single fares from 5 to 6 cents was proposed. Many meetings of protest have already been held and it is probable that when the details of the proposed change become generally known protests will be made more definite.

12 Cents to Country Club

A vigorous protest is being made by the patrons of the Boston-Lowell lines of the company on which there are marked increases. On the route via Medford and Billerica the rate between Merrimack square, Lowell, and Woburn square is raised from 20 to 30 cents and from Merrimack square to Winthrop square, Medford, from 25 to 30 cents. From Lowell to the Vesper Country club the fare is raised from 6 to 12 cents as a result of the division of a single fare zone into two, with fares of 6 cents each.

Eight Cent Zones

On the Boston-Lowell route via Malden and Tewksbury there is to be a flat rate of three cents in each of the present zones, except that between Merrimack square and Chandler's town house, so to Malden there will be a raise from 25 to 30 cents.

On the Boston-Lawrence via Malden route the fare zones remain unchanged, but the fares themselves beyond Malden square will be increased from 5 to 8 cents, except local fares in North Reading and from North Reading to Reading square which will be 5 cents.

Between Lawrence and Salem there is to be an increase from 15 to 35 cents and from Lowell to Haverhill one from 25 to 30 cents. The trip from Haverhill to Newburyport via Georgetown, the rate will be increased from 25 to 35 cents, from Haverhill to Dunbar academy from 20 to 30 cents and from Newburyport to Ipswich Junction from 20 to 30 cents. Local fares in Rowley and Ipswich will jump from 5 to 8 cents.

Reading and Stoneham Increases

An increase from 10 to 15 cents is to be made in the through fare on the Arlington-Reading route, while the trip from Stoneham square to Arlington, now 5 cents, will be 12 cents. The fare from Stoneham to Medford also is raised from 5 to 12 cents. Local fares on the Reading, Stoneham and Waverfield routes are to be 8 instead of 5 cents.

On the Gloucester-Rockport loop there is to be an increase of 10 cents in fare and on the Beverly-Gloucester line one of 11 cents. The fare from Haverhill to Boston will be increased from 20 to 24 cents, from Salem to Boston from 15 to 18 cents and from there are many changes in the local zones in Beverly, Salem and Peabody, many of the local fares rising from 5 to 8 cents.

Six-cent fares will be the rule on all cars of the company leaving Scollay square, thus giving Boston its first taste of a street car fare at that price. To the south of Boston similar fare increases will also prevail, that from Brockton to New Bedford rising from 45 to 50 cents and from Bridgewater to East Providence from 30 to 48 cents. Additional transfer privileges accompany most of the increases in fare in this section.

On many of the divisions passengers may buy strips of nine tickets for 50 cents, thus making the fare increase amount to only about half a cent.

the organization will be held on Tuesday night.

Y. M. C. I.

The first fall meeting of the Y. M. C. I. will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock in the rooms of the society in St. Joseph's street. This will be the first meeting of the society in several months and a large attendance is expected. The exterior of the building has been renovated and painted and improvements will be made to the interior within a few weeks. The rooms will be opened for the winter season next week.

The executive board of the society held a meeting this week and transacted a list of important business. Plans were made for a number of social events to be held during the winter months, and it was announced that a year book, which will contain the history of the organization from the time of its inception to the present time will be published. President John H. Shea presided.

Aveline Club

The Aveline club, an entirely new organization in the social life of the city, was formed last evening in the quarters of the Warren club in Middlesex street. The club is composed of about 20 very prominent young ladies. Election of officers took place with the following results: Miss Flora Ryan, president; Miss Lauretta Barry, vice president; Miss Rosa Shields, secretary; Miss Myra Trudeau, treasurer. CONFERENCE AT STATE HOUSE MONDAY—GOVERNOR TO ENFORCE LABOR LAWS AT DRY DOCK

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Because of the inability of delegates from the Boston Central Labor union to meet Gov. Walsh yesterday in conference over the terms of the contract for the construction of the battleship, the governor decided to give them another opportunity to be heard Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

A delegation consisting of James Morgan of the Carpenters Union, President Augustin Howlett and Business Agent Edward Kelly of the Allied Trades Council, Joseph Walsh, business agent of the Painters union, and D. J. Mahoney, legislative agent for the bricklayers, masons and plasterers, conferred with the governor yesterday morning.

Secretary Connelly of the governor's office said after the conference: "The men present expressed themselves in favor of the building of the drydock. As far as the contract is concerned, they expressed the hope that a clause will be inserted which will insure strict compliance with the labor laws of the state and will preclude the necessity for argument and questions as to the interpretation of the law."

Gov. Walsh has previously stated that he will see to it that the contract plainly provides for a strict compliance with the laws regarding the employment of labor before he adds his approval of the contract with Hiltbrook, Cabot & Rollins to that of the executive council.
